Group forms to fight annexation

BY GEOFF BELCHER
News Editor

Bay St. Louis and Waveland may be nice places to visit, but a lot of people who currently live in the unincorporated areas of Hancock County apparently still don't want to live there.

About fifty people gathered Thursday evening at a conference room at Mississippi Power in Bay St. Louis to form a grassroots organization to fight the Bay and Waveland annexation plans, which will have their first hearings in court next week.

"We've done a lot of research ... and weighed the pros and the cons of this," Johanna Spicuzza, president of the Riverview Civic Association, told those gath-

Police say Bay man left the scene after hitting parked county road equipment

A Bay St. Louis man was arrested Friday morning after allegedly fleeing the scene of an accident in which a passenger in his car was killed.

Robert J. Angus, 48, of Bay St. Louis, was killed Friday when a vehicle driven by Ronald Stiglett, 47, crashed, according to a report issued by the Mississippi Highway Patrol.

According to the report, the vehicle was traveling east in the west-bound lane of traffic on Highway 90 near Lower Bay Rd. The vehicle u-turned, lost control and went off the roadway on the

The Hancock County Sheriff's Department is investigating an armed robbery which occurred early Friday morning in the Kiln area, according to Sheriff Steve Garber.

Sheriff's Investigator André Fizer who is leading the investigation said, "The Slidell resident visited Casino Magic arriving on its shuttle and missed the shuttle home. He returned to the games and struck up a conversation with a male and female player and asked if they would take him home."

Hancock schools eye contracting food service

BY SHANNON JENKINS
Staff Writer

Concerned cafeteria workers sat silently through a presentation for contracted food services during the Hancock County School Board's regular meeting Thursday night.

Apparently, the employees were concerned that this presentation could lead to them losing their jobs.

Peggy Ladner, board president, said the presentation was for "informational purposes only."

"Presentations such as this are not uncommon at board meetings," she said. "We are always looking for more efficient ways in which to run the departments of the district. The departments that are now operated by contracted services work very well for us."

Ladner said one of the biggest benefits in using contracted services is a reduction in insurance costs to the district.

"We are looking for ways to help reduce the district's worker's compensation costs, which are exorbitant due to the high number of claims we have," she said.

"The largest percentage of our worker's compensation losses occur in the cafeterias."

Ladner did offer some encouraging words for cafeteria workers in a statement to The Sea Coast Echo.

"Our employees can be assured, consideration to them and their benefits, especially those employees nearing retirement, is a top priority," she said.

The board requested that Sodexo, the company which made the presentation, conduct a cost analysis to determine if it would be feasible to look at the matter further.

District 4 member Larry Seal requested information from Sodexo during his participation in the National School Board Association's Southern Regional Conference in Savannah, Ga., this past July. Seal said he requested the information because of the worker compensation issue.

"I'd be in favor of a private company in the event of a substantial cost savings in the food service area and a reduction in the overall worker's comp cost for the entire district," he said. "My utmost concern in the food service area is the proper nutrition of the children, and I think Rhea Rutherford (the food service manager at the Hancock School district) and her staff are doing a good job there."

Seal said another concern is the protection and welfare of the employees that work in that area, particularly the long-term employees, as they deserve protection.

"I am also concerned with proper fiscal management and this area has been a breeding ground for workers' compensation claims, which are driving the costs for the entire district up, and utilizing the law of large numbers, these claims may not have the adverse effect on a company the size of Sodexo or AraMark that they have on our district."

With these companies' primary focus being food service, Seal said they may be able to identify problems that the board can't as the district is in the education business first and foremost.

In other business, the board approved the creation of a position for an athletic director.

"The district does not have an athletic director as required by the state," Peggy Ladner said. "The current position of coach of athletics does not comply with the state's requirements."

That position is held by Rocky Gaudin, who is also head coach of the Hancock Hawks football team.

According to the Mississippi Department of Education Code 511008, some qualifications for an athletic director include the following:

- A minimum of three years varsity head coaching experience
- A master's degree or beyond

Ladner said the state and board policy will dictate how this position is filled, as it does for the manner in which all of the district's positions are filled.

"The board has determined that the requirements for an athletic director should meet the state's requirements because of the responsibilities associated with the job," Ladner said.

The salary scale, she said, would follow the administrative salary scale the district has in place for other administrative employees.

Annexation -- opposition

ered Thursday, "and the benefits just don't outweigh the negatives."

The Bay St. Louis City Council passed an ordinance in June to annex a vast area between Highway 603, the Jourdan River, and westward to beyond Interstate 10.

The annexation, subject to chancery court approval, would sweep Garden Isles, much of Shoreline Park, and Jourdan River Estates subdivisions into the city limits. It also would bring both sides of the Highway 603 commercial corridor into the city's boundaries, giving Bay St. Louis a huge new tax base territory. Also of major significance, the annexation would put the largely undeveloped intersection of Highway 603 and Interstate 10 within the corporate boundary.

The city of Waveland quickly followed suit, filing its own annexation intentions in court in July.

Waveland's plan encompasses an area along Hwy. 90 and extends down the west side of Hwy. 603 just past I-10, along with adjoining neighborhoods.

The proposal would bring into Waveland city limits the area along the west side of Hwy. 603 to the vicinity of Bayou La Croix; then jumps the highway and takes in lands on the east and west, including the prized, largely undeveloped acreage at the intersection of Interstate 10 and Hwy. 603.

In addition to city police and fire protection, Bay St. Louis would provide planning and zoning, garbage and trash removal, animal control, street and drainage maintenance, code enforcement, parks and recreation services and the right to vote in municipal elections.

However, many people said Thursday night, it would also bring many changes they don't want, such as increased building codes and taxes.

"I just can't see the quality of life improving in this area (through annexation)," District 5 Supervisor Jay Cuevas said at the meeting, "but I can see your taxes piling up."

Spicuzza said that the only benefit her group could see would be the improved fire rating, "but that's not guaranteed."

Paul Seckso, president of the board of commissioners of the East Hancock Fire Department, said the insurance bureau is already reviewing the area for an improved fire rating.

"We have one of the better volunteer fire departments ...," he said. "This question of annexation - I'm not sure how quickly the cities will improve on that system."

Even if the fire rating is improved with annexation,

Lynn Bell said, "If Bay St. Louis has not upgraded the annexation period within a certain amount of time, it will go back up."

Seckso said he was also concerned about the city of Bay St. Louis' stringent building codes.

Spicuzza distributed petitions, asking everyone to get as many signatures as possible before the Oct. 13 chancery court hearing on Bay St. Louis' proposal. Waveland's proposal goes to court on Oct. 15.

While the petition would not be legally binding on the judge, it would indicate to him that the people affected by the annexation do not want it.

"The only thing this petition will show is numbers," she said, "the more the better." The group will meet again this Wednesday, Oct. 8, from 7-9 p.m. at the Mississippi Power building on Hwy. 90 in Bay St. Louis.

Murphy Elementary among schools honored statewide

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Governor Ronnie Musgrove and the Mississippi Association of Partners in Education will recognize Mississippi's top school-community partnerships at the 19th annual Partners in Education Seminar Monday, October 27. The seminar is scheduled to begin at 8 a.m. at the Jackson Hilton, Jackson, Miss.

Winners of the third annual Governor's Awards will be announced at an awards luncheon sponsored by Entergy and BellSouth at 12:30 p.m.

Awards will go to outstanding partnerships in the elementary school, high school, multi-level, and school district categories. Finalists and their communities include Charles B. Murphy Elementary. Other coast schools honored include Gulfport and Moss

Point. "We are grateful to Governor Musgrove for the opportunity to honor our state's premier partnerships with this award," Jay Lee, president of the Mississippi Association of Partners in Education, said. "We have many remarkable programs throughout the state."

The organizations were selected for exhibiting exceptional support for K-12 schools and students throughout the state.

The award selection committee, composed of representatives from business/industry, non-profits, education, and governor's office staff members, considered the needs and goals established for the partnership; activities; communication with students, parents, staff, employees, news media; and effectiveness.

north side and hit a parked road grader owned by the Hancock County road department, according to police.

Stiglett suffered "minor bumps and bruises," according to the report, and fled the scene.

He was arrested later Friday by Lt. Danny Gilkerson of the Hancock County Sheriff's Department, who was assisting the MHP in the case.

Gilkerson charged Stiglett with one felony count of leaving the scene of an accident and driving on a suspended driver's license.

Stiglett was held at the Hancock County Justice Facility without bond.

The accident is still under investigation by the Mississippi Highway Patrol.

Robbery

"They left the casino and apparently the man and woman took the victim to the Kiln area around 2 a.m., armed robbed him of his wallet, which contained $175 cash in addition to all of his identification," Fizer said.

Hancock Deputies Chris Ory and Wesley Lossette first responded to the incident.

Cuevas' Quotes

by Ellis C. Cuevas

Don't forget St. Rose's 77th fair

Everyone has been talking about the beautiful weather we have had for the past week.

Those cool mornings have been a welcome after a long hot spring and summer.

Pecans are beginning to fall and leaves are being shed from many trees.

It won't be long before the leaf rakes need to come out of the sheds, but the cool temperatures makes it pleasant to get outside and do some necessary chores.

Hopefully the cool mornings will remain with us for awhile.

Looking for something to do today? You may want to consider attending St. Rose de Lima's 77th Church Fair.

Activities begin at 11 a.m. today through 10 p.m.

There will be very good foods offered, games, rides, live entertainment by St. Lucy Catholic Church Gospel Choir and Da Phazz, a silent auction, just some for folks of all ages.

I hope to see you at St. Rose's Fair today.

The engines are revving up from some 35 state and Canada and are on their way to the Mississippi Gulf Coast for the 8th Annual Cruise "The Coast."

It is a full week of excitement for the 4,000 plus car owners who will be riding the roads of the Mississippi Gulf Coast today through next Sunday.

This will mean lots of traffic, and at the same time bring back many memories of folks of the vehicles they grew up with and owned.

I still remember the first car I owned, a 1936 Plymouth, paid a whopping $50 for it.

Still I drove it for four years and my brother Raymond one year. It was a well made vehicle, even it burned a little oil.

We should see lots of vehicles arriving in Bay St. Louis on Tuesday when activities begin downtown in the afternoon and at Casino Magic, Bay St. Louis.

There will be a Happy Hour Cruise-In from 3 to 6 p.m. in Bay St. Louis' Old Town and from Old Town to Casino Magic 6 to 7 p.m.

An since it is Tuesday night, Pete Fountain will be the highlight at Casino Magic. By the way, it is a very short drive from Pete's house to Casino Magic.

We will be telling you more about activities Thursday through next Sunday on Thursday.

Performance should be measured

BY PHIL BRYANT
State Auditor

A young progressive legislator, I was excited when the "Mississippi Performance Budget and Strategic Planning Act of 1994" was signed into law by then Governor Kirk Fordice. I knew "Performance Based Budgeting" was on the cutting edge of a movement to reinvent government by attaching results to funding services and programs. The outcome of a government program was defined as evidence of the actual impact or public benefit. The concept was to determine outcome, not output. For example, if the State of Mississippi spent a million dollars on programs to reduce teen pregnancy, the outcome should be a reduction in unwanted pregnancies, not how many classes were held, public service announcements made or condoms distributed. If the program was successful in meeting its pre-established performance goals, then its funding would continue. If it was not, then budgets would be reduced or the program consolidated into another agency with a similar mission.

The law (27-103-153) states, "Performance targets shall be established annually by the Legislature and shall be based upon funding levels authorized for each agency within its appropriation bill." Innovative incentive programs were to be offered for cost saving measures where individuals would receive, "both public commendation and monetary reward." These were innovative and exciting reforms for the budget process. Unfortunately, the act was never fully implemented. Agencies such as the Auditor's Office do submit projected performance measures with our budget request, but little attention is paid to them. In 1998, I requested a legislative mandate to post-audit these measures, but had no success. Now with the difficult fiscal times, "Performance Based Budgeting" is getting a second look by governmental financial officers around the nation. From Louisiana to Florida to Pennsylvania, state leaders realize accountability is now the watchword for funding. They realize that what gets measured ... gets done. If you are not measuring outcome, you cannot determine success or failure. All too often, we are rewarding failure in government programs due to this absence of measurable outcomes.

On August 27, 2003, the Lieutenant Governor requested the Performance Audit Division of the State Auditor's Office to conduct a

The Radiator of Rhetoric

The President has asked for $87 billion to help complete our mission in Iraq and Afghanistan. After much analysis and some frank, probing questions to the Administration, I'm supporting it. President Bush said the War on Terrorism would be long and costly.

This is nothing new. We've got to forget partisan domestic politics for now and persevere abroad. We cannot give terrorists time to regroup and bring more death to our shores.

When President Bush stood atop the ruins of the smoldering World Trade Center flanked by brawny firefighters and policemen chanting "USA, USA..." all of America was inspired and united. Even the media polled Americans after 9/11 about the possibility we might have to depose Saddam with an Iraq invasion, and those polls showed Americans were ready. In the aftermath of 9/11, Democrats, Republicans, independents and just about everyone clearly saw the dangers posed by terrorists, and we were willing to finally deal with this scourge, no matter what or where it took.

As part of the War on Terror, Congress a year ago debated what to do about Saddam's Iraq which had flaunted the United Nations for 12 years, defying a dozen UN resolutions. This regime had made no secret of its desire to acquire deadly weapons or to support terrorism. The Senate voted 77 to 23 to pass the Iraq Resolution giving the President our approval to use military force against Saddam. The House vote was just as convincing - 296 to 133.

Months later, Saddam's regime is gone. Like the Afghans a year earlier, the

Our letters policy

The Sea Coast Echo welcomes comments from its readers. Letters must be signed and include address or telephone number. Letters should be brief, preferably typewritten and double-spaced. Only one letter per writer per month. The editor reserves the right to edit or reject letters. Letters of thanks, expressions of appreciation and political endorsements are inappropriate.

Iraqi people have a chance at real freedom, to create a stable democracy in the heart of an unstable Middle East - all thanks to our fighting men and women and their determined Commander-in-Chief. No longer will these two nations be an incubator for terror and home to despots, which is good for the whole world.

Now a year after the Iraq resolution and almost two years after a stunning victory in Afghanistan that defied all predictions, our political cycle is taking hold. We seem to have forgotten the overwhelming votes and military victories. Rhetoric from presidential hopefuls and their supporters threatens to interfere and push our domestic politics abroad, no doubt emboldening our enemies and compromising not only our soldiers overseas, but folks here at home as well. We must remain focused. We cannot allow another 9/11-style event or worse to occur on our shores.

Nor can we now expect nations like France to provide real leadership. They will not, and cannot, fight terrorists effectively. Nations from around the world should contribute to stabilizing Iraq, Afghanistan and any other locale now fertile ground for democracy - places where we can deny terrorism a base camp. However, America must lead. I watched a television interview recently with a lady from England and reporters asked her why Europeans do not feel good about Americans right now. She replied, "It's because you are leaders. The world expects you to do the job, and they are jealous of you when you do that job."

Lott -- Rhetoric

America deserves some help from those nations, but ultimately America has to defeat terrorism. That's reality. We must expect jealousy of our power.

In the midst of a global war, we must not dwell on whether France, Germany or any nation feels "comfortable" with everything we do.

Only America has the capability to lead this fight against terrorists and take the fight to their breeding ground. In a political cycle there is going to be rhetoric, and we should indeed question policies. However, we must conduct our debate in a way that avoids overstatements of positions.

We must cool the radiator of rhetoric, especially in a time of ongoing war - a global war that started after ter-

Schooner Harbor has filed an application with the Department of Marine Resources requesting permission to conduct regulated activities under the provision of the Coastal Wetlands Protection Act, Title 49, Chapter 27, Mississippi Code of 1972 at Denny Ave. In Moss Point on the Escatawpa River, Jackson County, Mississippi. The applicant is requesting permission to construct a floating public marina next to the boat launch on Denny Ave. The marina will run parallel to the boardwalk for 890 feet and include 120 slips, a fuel dock with a pump-out facility, and utilities. ## MDEQ awards Solid Waste Assistance Grant to Bay St. Louis

THE SEA COAST ECHO
The Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality (MDEQ) has awarded the city of Bay St. Louis a grant in the amount of $15,000. The City proposes to utilize this funding assistance for a local wood waste recycling program.

The grant was awarded from the Local Government Solid Waste Assistance Fund.

"This project will improve the quality of life for the people of the city of Bay St. Louis, as well as protecting the environment for future generations," said Governor Ronnie Musgrove.

Cities and counties throughout Mississippi can compete for Solid Waste Assistance Grants through the Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality. These grants could be utilized by local communities for programs to prevent and cleanup unauthorized dumps; to aid in hiring local solid waste enforcement officers, for public education efforts on solid waste disposal and recycling; and to establish collection programs for the collection of white goods, bulky wastes and recyclable.

"We are pleased to be able to assist the city of Bay St. Louis in their efforts to rid the area of unauthorized dump sites and to educate the public regarding how to properly dispose of solid waste," said Charles Chisolm, Executive Director of MDEQ.

State's jobless rate drops

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi's unemployment rate was 6.3 percent in August, down a percentage point from July, the state Employment Security Commission reports.

The commission said Tuesday that July's revised jobless rate was 7.3 percent. The rate was 6.7 percent in August 2002.

The adjusted national jobless rate was 6.1 percent.

MESC executive director Curt Thompson said the unemployment rate was effected by students and teachers returning to school. He said the size of the labor force dropped by 31,600 people in August.

Thompson said there were gains in education, agriculture, professional and business services and retail. Manufacturing employment continued to drop, with 2,500 fewer jobs than in July.

Twenty-nine of Mississippi's 82 counties had unemployment rates lower than the state average. Rankin and Hancock counties each had the lowest rate at 3.2 percent. Lamar County had 3.3 percent and Madison County was at 3.5 percent.

The highest jobless rate was 18.6 percent in Jefferson County, followed by 16 percent in Holmes County and 14.4 percent in Tallahatchie County.

Safety record

The Dupont Delisle Plant celebrated a new safety record with a luncheon Thursday. The plant went 229 working days injury free. Harrison County Supervisor Marlin Ladner, far right, and Pass Christian Alderman Chip McDermott, center, make their way through the buffet line during the celebration. Prior to setting this new record, the plant also had worked some 212 consecutive days without an injury in 1981-82. During the past five years, the plant has achieved an average Total Recordable Rate (TRR) of less than 1.0 and currently has a TRR of .22. This compares to TRR measurements in chemical manufacturing plants of 4.2 and a 9.0 TRR in all of U.S. industry (2000 data). TRR is calculated on the number of OSHA recordable injuries divided by 200,000 work hours. The plant also has the distinction of being the first industrial manufacturing site in Mississippi to have achieved the Occupational Health and Safety Administration's STAR site designation. Awarded in 1983, the OSHA certification is based on voluntary efforts of industrial sites to comply with rigorous standards for employee safety and health. (Staff photo by Shannon Jenkins)

3rd ranked Warriors drop Hawks 38-7

The Oak Grove Warriors came into Friday night's game against the Hancock Hawks as the third ranked team in the state of Mississippi. Before the end of the evening, the Warriors (6-0, 2-0), would show the Hawks (3-3, 0-2), just how good they were, as the Warriors racked up 400 yards of offense and a 38-7 victory.

"They are defiantly one of the best teams in the southern part of the state, we made a few mistakes, and they made up pay tonight," said Hawks head coach Rocky Gaudin.

The Warriors were led by top prospect Garry Pack, who rushed for 115 yards and two scores. Senior quarterback Kyle Sellers also passed for 94 yards.

The Hawks gave the Warriors great field position early in the game, as a fumble by Jeremy Thomas was recovered at the Hawks 15.

On the next play Sellers found Grant Houge for a 15-yard strike, and after Todd Siders booted the extra point, the Warriors led 7-0 with 6:16 to play in the first quarter.

The Warriors defense made the next big play of the game, as Thomas was intercepted by Chris Wright at the 44. Wright turned on the jets, and rambled 56-yards for a touchdown. Siders added the point after, and the Warriors led 14-0 with 2:35 to play in the quarter.

The Hawks would get good field position thanks to a 35-yard kickoff return by David Brown. Robert Domke took over at quarterback, and immediately sparked the Hawks offense. Domke ran for 15 yards, and a first down. Domke then found Daniel Spiers for 13 yards and another first down. Domke hit Brown for seven yards, and another pass for Steven Dauenhauer was incomplete, but a pass interference call gave the Hawks a first and goal at the four. Charlie Carolo got the call on the next play, and he delivered with a four yard touchdown. Justin Ratcliff added the point after, and the Hawks were back in the game 14-7, with 8:35 to play in the second.

The Warriors broke the Hawks spirit only two plays later. With second and two at the 28, Pack got the handoff, and then broke free. Pack broke three tackles, and took off on a 72-yard touchdown rumble. The point after was good, and the Warriors had control again 21-7.

A defensive stop gave the Warriors the ball back at midfield, and two plays later the Warriors were in the endzone again. This time it was Brandon Newson who motored 31 yards around the right end for the score. Drew Ezell added the point after, and the Warriors led 28-7, with 4:55 to play in the half.

The Hawks once again got a good return from Brown. This time Brown sprinted 45 yards to midfield, but the kicker Siders made a touchdown saving tackle.

The Hawks turned the ball over on down at the 41, and the Warriors had one more chance before the half.

The Warriors worked quickly as Sellers hit Terrell Walters for 11 yards. Sellers then went deep for Pack who hauled in a 36 yard reception tot he Hawks one. Pack score two plays later on a run, and after the extra point the Warriors led 35-7 with just seconds to play in the half.

The Hawks defense would tighten up to start the second half. Gerald Adams recovered a fumble at midfield on the Warriors first drive.

The Hawks were forced to punt, and the Warriors took over at the 15.

The Warriors would drive nine plays to reach the Hawks four. Pack went looking for his third touchdown, but Donald Hains forced Pack to fumble, and Eddie Bledsoe recovered in the endzone for a touchdown.

The Hawks offense could not manage anything against a tough Warrior defense, and the Warriors would round out their scoring with a 39-yard field goal by Siders with 10:14 to play in the game.

The Hawks defense would foil a final Warrior drive as Wesley Oliver recovered a fumble at the Hawks five yard line with just over two minutes to play.

With one last chace to score the Hawks went to the air. Domke hit Brown on a 40-yard bomb, and Domke would complete a seven yard pass to Justin Kopf before time expired.

"We are going to keep fighting. We still have five games, and three are at home", Gaudin said.

The Hawks defense was led by Gerald Adams who recovered two fumbles and had six tackles. Jarrod Barrios had seven tackles, along with Donald Hains and Charles Bolden who had five tackles.

Domke was the offense bright spot for the Hawks, as he rushed for 50 yards, and passed for 74 more. Carolo rushed for 12 yards, and his first touchdown.

The Hawks will return home next week to face Northwest Rankin.

Pass Christian Pirates surprise defending state champs 21-10

BY STEVE SMITH
WRITER

The Pass High Pirates traveled to D'Iberville Friday and held the defending 4A State Champions to 10 points, taking home a 21-10 victory. The Pirates took advantage of Warrior mistakes recovering all six D'Iberville fumbles and kept their offense on the field with an outstanding ground game.

"Any time you beat the defending State Champions in your division it's a big win," commented Pass coach Bo Vonderbrugge, "Ledea Johnson was all over the field tonight, leading the defense. Relieving him of his offensive duties has allowed him to really step up his game."

The Warriors won the toss but elected to kick and the Pirates moved into Warrior territory on the strength of Anthony Henderson runs of 9 and 11 yards and a pass from Jeffrey Hillard to Brandon Riley. That drive stalled, however, and a Jonathan Willis punt backed the Warriors up to the 24 yard-line.

D'Iberville reached the Pirate 44 yard-line before punting away and Chad Musgrove returned the ball to the Pass Christian 32 yardline. A 12 yard run by Musgrove and a 10 yarder by Charles Woods helped the Pirates land a first and ten at the Warrior 35 yard-line as the first quarter ended. Chad Musgrove scored on a sweep around left end on the next play from scrimmage and Willis' point after was good, putting the Pirates up 7-0 with 11:47 to play in the second quarter.

The Warrior offense managed only two plays after returning Willis' kick to the 31 yard-line. Ledea Johnson recovering the D'Iberville fumble at the 27 yard-line.

The Pirates moved to the Warrior 15 before a Willis field goal attempt was blocked, giving D'Iberville a first down at their own 25 yard-line.

Thw Warriors lost the handle again as quarterback Wesley Ladner was sacked and the Pirates took over at the 18 yard-line. Jared Bowser set up a first-and-goal at the one yard-line on runs of two and 16 yards, and scored the touchdown on the following play. Willis' kick was good and Pass High led, 14-0.

The Warriors reached the Pirate 30 yard-line before Ledea Johnson recovered a fumble, allowing Pass High to use, up most f the time remaining and take a 14 point lead into halftime.

After the Pirate kickoff opened the second half, both offenses struggled, trading punts until D'Iberville finally got on the scoreboard with 4:43 remaining in the third period. Jeff Kovacevich providing a 26 yard field goal.

The Pirates, leading 14-3, took charge and drove the length of the field scoring on the first play of the fourth quarter on a pitch from Jeffery Hillard to Anthony Henderson. Jonathan Willis was perfect on point after attempts for the evening, adding his third and ending the scoring for the Pirates at 21.

The Warriors finally got into the end zone with 2:11 remaining as Wesley Ladner punched it over from the one. The kick was good and the Pirate lead was cut to 21-10.

Sophomore quarterback Ryan Davis ran the Pirate offense as they used up the remaining time and took home their first district win heading in to a showdown with St. Stanislaus next Friday.

On offense, Chad Musgrove had 51 yards rushing, Jeffery Hillard also had 51, Jared Bowser had 50 yards and Tony Henderson added 26 yards.

Rocks tame Bulldogs 21-15; honor Peterman

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws found a way to win on Friday, October 3rd against the Vancleave Bulldogs with one of the greatest gridiron Rocks in the stands. SSC defeated the Bulldogs of Vancleave 21-15 amid a myriad of first half penalty flags while former SSC great and current LSU first-team All-American guard Stephen Peterman viewed the game. Peterman was honored at halftime of the game by the school who named the evening "Stephen Peterman Night."

Peterman, a candidate for the Lombardi Trophy, addressed the team prior to the game and was presented a framed collage of photos from SSC and LSU by the school administration. Peterman attended the game with his wife, Colleen, and newborn son Stephen Frederick Peterman, Jr., and other members of his immediate family. Peterman's nephew, Kace Mitchell, is a starting offensive lineman for the Rocks. Peterman commented, "It is really nice to be able to come back to see the people that helped make you who you are. All that I have accomplished would not be possible without the sincere guidance given to me by the faculty and staff of St. Stanislaus and the Brothers of the Sacred Heart. There is something very special about this place. I have traveled all over the country playing football and I always encounter someone along the way that is a Rock-a-chaw. There is a special bond between the alumni of SSC and tonight has brought back many fond memories of years past."

The Rocks fell behind in the first half 9-7 on a Vancleave field goal and 95 yards of penalties. The Rocks reversed the trend in the second half by committing only one penalty and intercepting the Bulldogs twice.

SSC got the ball rolling in the first quarter with their initial possession. The Rocks put together a 12-play drive that ended with a 6-yard scoring pass from Tim Kulikowski to Michael Cure with 2:26 left in the opening quarter. The PAT by Michael Kivlan was good making the score 7-0.

The Rocks were led on the drive that started near midfield by the hard running of Matt Hoda and Floyd Dedeaux. Hoda and Dedeaux carried for 20 yards each on the drive.

SSC intercepted the Bulldogs three plays into their next drive. Hunter Landgrave picked off the errant pass and returned the ball to the Rock 40 yardline. It appeared as though the Rocks were about to strike paydirt when three costly Rock penalties forced the Rocks to punt.

The two teams traded possessions the next two times around before

Vancleave got on the board. SSC turned the ball over on downs at the Bulldog 43 yardline. There, Vancleave mounted a quick five-play drive that culminated in a Matt Sloan 13-yard run for a score with 2:55 left in the first half. The Bulldogs were aided by an SSC penalty on the drive, as well. The Rocks blocked the PAT attempt leaving the score 7-6.

The Rocks were intercepted on their next drive at the Vancleave 30 yardline. The errant pass was returned to the Rock 35 yardline. The Bulldogs had to settle for a 25-yard field goal by Trey Reid with :03 left in the first half due in large part to the hard-hitting Rock defense led by Lee Klein, Jordan Ellis, Spencer Ziegler, Travis Morris, Mike Cure, JC Brignone, and others.

Vancleave claimed a 9-7 lead at the intermission.

SSC started the second half on offense but went backwards and had to punt away. The Bulldogs started at midfield and used six plays to get in range for another Reid field goal attempt. The 41-yard effort fell short with 7:39 left in the third period leaving the score 9-7.

The Rocks ended up giving the ball back to the Bulldogs without generating any offense. With Klein, Ellis, Nick Weinmann and Zack Elkins stuffing Johnny Peterson in the backfield, the Bulldogs decided to go to the air. Vancleave was picked off by Rock safety Anthony Taylor who returned the ball 21 yards to the Vancleave 12 yardline.

Five plays later and Lee Klein scored from 1-yard out behind a great second effort refusing to go down. The two-point conversion failed leaving the score 13-9 with :07 left in the third quarter.

The two teams traded possessions before Vancleave got the ball back.

The Bulldogs started at their own 28 yardline. Following two minimal gains, Ronnie Wheat reversed field on the third play of the drive and went 64 yards for the score. The PAT attempt by Reid was blocked again by the Rock interior line and with 7:31 left in the game the score was 15-13.

Anthony Taylor returned the ensuing kickoff 56 yards to the Vancleave 36 yardline. The Rocks had to settle shooting for a 41-yard field goal after not being able to get the offense in gear. The kick sailed wide right and missed its mark leaving the score 15-13.

When the Bulldogs got the ball back on offense following the missed kick, they ran into wall of defenders led by Klein, Ellis, Morris, Ziegler and others. The defensive unit for the Rocks played like the 'Graveyard'

Defense of older days gone by and forced the Bulldogs to punt.

The Rocks had a short field to work with starting at the Bulldog 40 yardline. The Rock offensive line of Kace Mitchell, Bob Bass, Nick Weinmann, Herman Johnson, Caleb McQueen and others took charge on this game-winning drive.

They gave Kulikowski time to throw a 24-yard pass to Brock Kelly that set up Matt Hoda's 2-yard scoring dive with 1:18 left to play. The two-point conversion from Kulikowski to Dedeaux was good making the final score 21-15.

Aided by a questionable pass interference penalty out of bounds, the Bulldogs pushed the ball deep into Rock territory. However, they went to the air one time too many as Anthony Taylor recorded his second pick of the game to end the Bulldog threat.

SSC head coach Casey Wittmann stated, "Penalties killed us early on."

We had some opportunities to put the game out of reach early in the first half but kept shooting ourselves in the foot with mistakes. We were able to move the ball on the ground and completed the passes when we had to.

Vancleave was much quicker than we had anticipated and we had to adjust to that. It was not pretty but we found a way to win tonight and that is a tribute to the players not giving up. We play Pass Christian next week.

They are a very talented team and we will be playing them for their homecoming. It is a rivalry game for both schools."

SSC was led on the ground by Matt Hoda with 56 yards on 14 carries.

Brock Kelly had three catches for 34 yards to lead the Rocks in receiving.

Defensively, SSC was led by Lee Klein with 14 total hits including five tackles for minus-17 yards while Jordan Ellis tallied nine total hits and two tackles for minus-6 yards. Anthony Taylor had two interceptions and five tackles for SSC in the defensive backfield.

The Rocks will lock horns with the Pass Christian Pirates next Friday on the road across the Bay of St. Louis. Game time is set for 7:30pm.

Pearl River takes aim at state soccer playoffs

POPLARVILLE - As the fall soccer season heads down the stretch, the men's and women's teams at Pearl River Community College have set their sights on the upcoming state playoffs.

Both teams, under coach Adam Breerwood, are in first place in the South Division with four games remaining. The top two teams from the North and South will meet at the home of the North men's champion for the state playoffs on Oct. 25-26.

The PRCC men's team is 11-1-1 overall and 5-0 in the South Division. The women's team is 12-2 overall, 5-0 in the South Division.

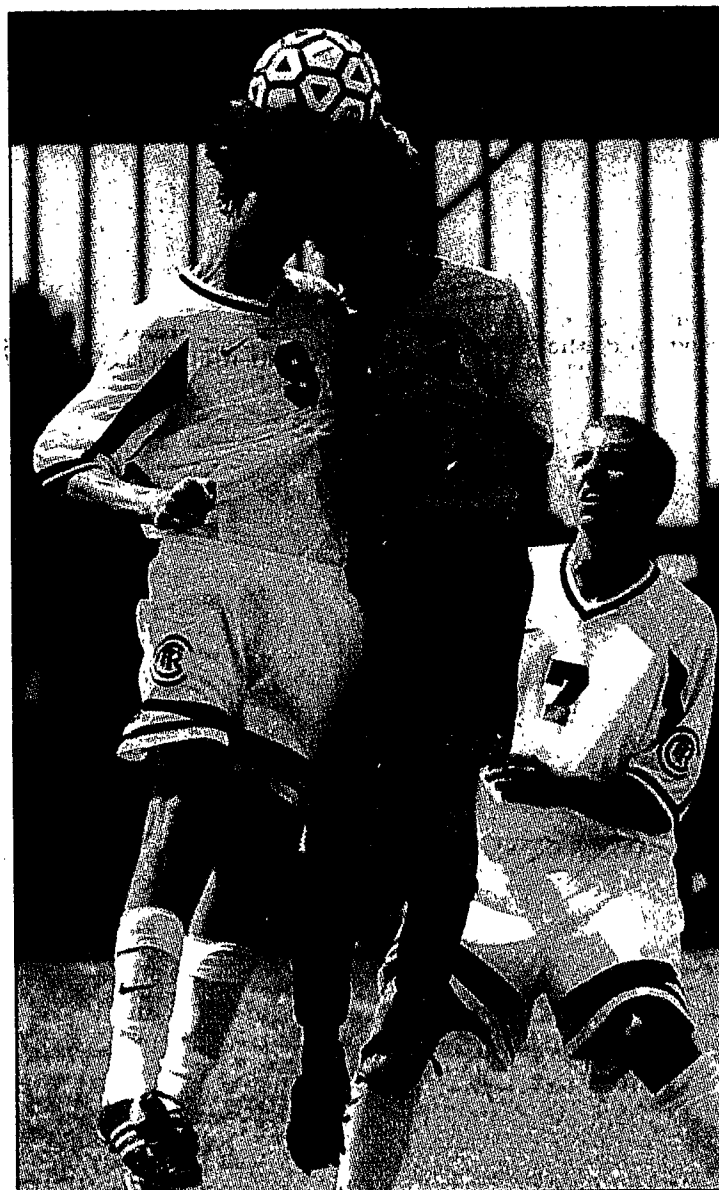

The PRCC men's team is led by sophomore Drew Gallant of Forrest County AHS, who has scored 19 goals in 13 games. Sophomore Walt Thomas of Petal, freshman Austin Lovitt of Oak Grove and sophomore Stephen Kulikowski of Waveland are other top scorers on the team.

"These guys have either played together or against each other throughout their high school careers," said Breerwood. "They have a real good understanding of what each other can do on the field. Having this knowledge of each other has really complimented our offense and defense all season long. They are also the most dedicated team we've ever had here."

The Wildcats are leading the state in scoring average and are second in the state defensively, thanks to the play of freshman goalie Jarred Cooper of George County, freshman sweeper Brandon Baas of Oak Grove, sophomore Bryce Breland of St. Stanislaus, an all-state and all-region player a year ago, and freshman Cameron Lovitt of Oak Grove.

"Two of our midfielders, freshman Chris St. John of Oak Grove and sophomore Brennan Brooks of St. Stanislaus have dominated the midfield for us," said Breerwood. "They work well together. Freshman Bubba Dedeaux and David Fletcher, both from Oak Grove, can come off the bench and play any position and do it effectively."

St. John and Brooks feel the Wildcats can make a run for the state title.

"We are more than just a team; we are a big family," said St. John. "Everybody tries to help each other get better. The unity that we have and the talent that we have is great and those are the things behind our success right now."

Brooks agrees. "This team has the capability. We have all-star players on this team from all-around and we all want the same thing, to win the South Division championship and bring the state title home to Pearl River."

Thomas has missed the last few games with a deep thigh bruise but is expected back for the next game, Saturday, Oct. 11, at home against Gulf Coast Community College.

Sophomore Ashley Chrisman of Kiln leads the Lady Wildcats with 18 goals this season. Last season, she led the state in scoring with 28 goals while helping lead the team to a second-place finish in the state.

PRCC is playing without injured star Regina Neely, a sophomore from George County. Neely, has years second leading scorer, is out with a knee injury.

"The girls have responded well since we lost Neely," said Breerwood. "We have won our last three games by a combined 13-3 score. We hope to have Neely back by the state tournament."

Breerwood says experience has been a big plus for the Lady Wildcats.

"We have such a big returning group from last year, plus a few key freshmen have come in and met expectations when we signed them," he said. "If we can overcome some injuries, should be back in the state championship game."

The Lady Wildcat defense is led by sophomore Brooke Conover of Harrison Central, who has also proven to be a valuable asset on offense with six goals. Freshman goalie

Jena Tetzlaff of Poplarville has been a pleasant surprise. "Coming into the year, we were concerned about that position," said Breerwood. "But Jena has turned out to be the best keeper that we have ever had at PRCC."

Breerwood also says that sophomore Katie Fillengame of Bay High and freshman Jana Clements of North Forrest have developed into quite a threat in the midfield, along with sophomore Sky Thomas of Bay High, and sophomores Carlie Duke Lauren Hillery of Picayune.

Gators chomp Tigers 50-14

BY MAURICE SINGLETON
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

The Bay High Tigers faced something they hadn't seen in the first five games in their 50-14 loss to Gautier at McCullough Stadium in Bay St. Louis on Friday night. The visiting Gators scored six touchdowns and were successful on a two-point conversion to give the Tigers an insurmountable mountain to climb in just the first fourteen minutes of the game.

The Gators' offense kept the defense fresh by mixing the pass and run and dominating game clock. When the Gators defense took the field in the early going, they put the Tigers away quickly, holding the home team to a mere 3 first downs on their first five possessions.

The Gators' offense scored their first four touchdowns, giving the visitors a 28-0 lead, and then their defense went to work. Gautier blocked a Kyle Moran punt and returned it for a score. On the first play from scrimmage, following the kick, Gautier picked off a Zack Ferry pass, and on the very next play, the Gators' quarterback sailed a pass into the endzone for a touchdown, ending any hopes Bay High may have had for a comeback rally.

"They just had a good game plan and we didn't play very well," said a disappointed Tigers' coach Glenn Williams. "Their speed was the difference; we just got whipped."

Down 43-0 with 8:11 remaining in the second quarter, Lorenzo Lewis got the Tigers started with a 22-yard kickoff return to his 26 yardline. Then the Tigers put together their most impressive drive of the night, featuring Kyle Moran and Antonio Hawkins on slants. Moran picked up 3 on first down, then another 16 yards for a first. Moran added 3 yards on first down and was dropped for a 2-yard loss on second down. Ferry hit Hawkins across the middle for 10 yards for the first down.

On first down, Moran recovered his own fumble for a 2-yard gain. Hawkins found a seam on second down for 7 more yards. On third down Moran went straight up the middle for a 7-yard pickup.

Hawkins carried for positive yardage on the next two snaps: the first a 7-yard burst up the middle and the second a yard gain. Moran picked up the first down on a 2-yard carry to the Gators 14 yardline.

The Gators were flagged for two infractions; pass interference and roughing the passer on the first snap, giving the Tigers a first down at the Gators' 8 yardline. On second down Ferry completed the screen pass to Hawkins near the visitors' sideline and he carried for the score. The 2-point conversion pass from Ferry to his favorite receiver Lorenzo Lewis closed the first half scoring at 43-8.

The Tigers offensive opened the second half with another impressive drive. Javon Williams returned the second half kickoff eight yards to his 39 yardline. Hawkins picked up 5 yards on first down, and Moran added four on second. Facing third down and inches for the first, Ferry kept it around the right end for an 11-yard gain for a first down at the Gators 41 yardline. Ferry completed two passes to Hawkins for 13 and 17 yards. Shawn Moran contributed runs of 2 and 7 yards before Hawkins made his second trip of the night into the endzone as he took the pitch left for a 4-yard touchdown run. The 2-point conversion pass was dropped in the endzone as the Tigers trailed 43-14 following the successful 11-play, 5-minute drive.

On the night, Hawkins combined for a total of 123 all purpose yards: 48 yards on 4 receptions, 48 yards on a kickoff return and 27 yards on 6 carries.

Ferry completed 10 of 30 passes for 105 yards, two touchdowns and 2 interceptions. Kyle Moran grounded out 93 yards on 19 carries.

The loss gives the Tigers a 4-2 (1-1 district) record. The Tigers host D'Iberville next Friday night at McCullough Stadium in Bay St. Louis.

Artigues said the participants will be given their team's five-week schedule on the final day of the camp. Two-to-three games will be scheduled for each team weekly and all will be played in Wildcat Stadium on the PRCC campus.

The two-day camp includes insurance, a camp tee-shirt, and participation in some 10 league games. Players will be divided into groups for instruction and games.

The actual league will be divided into divisions by grades depending on the number of participants. Major emphasis is placed on improvement through work on fundamentals and actual game situations. In addition, if possible, players may request to be on the same team.

The funeral was held in the old church

Views From a Front Porch

by Paul Estronza
La Violette

laviolet@mail.datasync.com

Today will be the last day of the 77th Annual Rosa de Lima Catholic Church Fair. I've been fortunate enough to have been asked to write the text to go with Lori Gorton's wonderful commemorative poster. I'm giving that text here, hopefully, as an inducement for you to visit the fair today. It is being held on the school grounds opposite the church. If you come, Stella and I will see you there.

The funeral was held in the old church. The church was air-conditioned, but the day itself was cool with a gray sky and the air-conditioning served to provide a feeling of comfort to what would otherwise be a stuffy interior.

Inside where the casket for the woman sat in front of the altar, the light coming in through the stained glass windows carried the grayness in with muted colors that softened the mourners gathered to see the last of the women in the casket.

I say old church, but the woman was older. She was born in 1898 and the church was not built till 1928, old but not as old as her. The woman's father had built the church. In the scattered papers that give the history of the church, he is listed simply as the contractor, but he was more than that. He was a builder of houses and a goodly number of the houses that were built in the small town of Bay St. Louis at that time had been built by him. Good, sturdy houses, they were built to the needs and the funds of the owners, but they were designed and constructed by the inherent art and skills of the father of the woman in the casket in the front of the church.

Her father built the church as he built the houses, strong, comfortable, cool in summer, warm in winter, reliable, with a soft friendly, almost intimate feel. He designed the church for the needs of his fellow parishioners and he and they together built on weekends, on days off and at night when they could find time. When finished, it stood for years wrapped tightly, entwined in the life and history of the builders and to

THE LADIES OF LOG TOWN

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

This is the first of a two part series of the memories of several friends who grew up in Logtown.

The area that used to be Logtown in the western part of Hancock County probably just looks like a bunch of overgrown trees to most people just passing through.

Not many would give much thought to turning off on one of the little roads, now full of potholes, that wind through the woods and down to the river at Logtown or to the area that used to be called The Point. About the only thing that people wander off the main road to do these days is to dump trash, much to the disdain of former residents.

The area has been deserted since the mid 1960s when the last residents reluctantly left after

Friends, and sisters, for life. Sister Mary Acker of Gainesville, left, Sister Lillie Sams of Logtown, center, and Sister Lillian Rogers of Logtown, right, all grew up along the Pearl River in West Hancock in the communities that were lost to the world when Stennis Space Center cleared the way for its rocket testing facility in the 1960s.

NASA took over their land and their homes to build Stennis Space Center.

Now, for those who lived in, and loved Logtown, their memories have elevated that patch of woods to a magical place where people got along, helped one another, loved their fellow man, and left the rest of the world behind.

Some cynics say that memories of Logtown, and indeed the entire buffer zone area, are only so positive because they are so far in the past, that the places there have been elevated to a mythical standing. But if that is true, than it is a myth that all the former residents seemingly hold in common memory. No, it is more likely that the truth is, that when the residents of the little towns and communities along the Pearl River were forced to move to make way for the space age, that like many places before them, a way of life was lost.

Yes, I am sure that the memories are real and the places were just as people remember them because I know that they have become real for me during the times I have been lucky enough to spend time in the buffer zone with the people

Lost Communities OF HANCOCK COUNTY

Memories of a time gone by at the black cemetery at The Point in Logtown

Sister Lillie Sams, left, visits the grave of her husband of 53 years, the Rev. Robert Sams. Her place awaits next to him. Ironically, the grave yards are the last connection that many of the past residents have of the lost communities along the Pearl River. Rather than a place of sorrow, for many, they have become a place to remember happy times.

Mexican bush sage offers fiesta colors

The shorter days of the late summer or early fall can bring a Mexican fiesta to gardens around the state, and the showiest displays are those with the tall violet-to-purple spikes of the Mexican bush sage, Salvia leucantha.

The Mexican bush sage is a short day or long night bloomer, starting in late summer and blooming through several hard frosts. The purple, fuzzy, velvet spikes with white flowers are produced in huge quantities. The gardener growing this species could easily harvest a hundred flower stems for the vase. The gray-green foliage provides garden interest, even if the plants aren't blooming.

The ideal site is full sun though a little afternoon shade is tolerated. The soil should be very well drained, as this plant is native to Mexico. Plant on raised beds or amend heavy soils with the addition of compost or humus. Well-drained soil may encourage next year's return further north than expected.

While preparing the soil, incorporate 2 pounds of a slow-release, 12-6-6-fertilizer per 100 square feet of bed space. Space the plants 24 to 36 inches apart planting at the same depth they are growing in the container. Do not plant under street or floodlights as these bloom in response to the number of dark hours.

Give supplemental water during long dry periods. In the fall, after significant frost damage, prune to the ground level and add a layer of mulch for winter protection. Feed in the spring with a light application of fertilizer with the emergence of growth and every six to eight weeks through September. The Mexican bush sage can be lightly pruned once or twice in late April and early June to increase the number of blooming stems for fall. Harvest several stems and tie with sprigs of rosemary for hanging in

The real garden fiesta begins once you start growing the Mexican bush sage with the Mexican sunflower.

Artifact exhibit opens at Bay-Hancock Library

An exhibit of archaeological artifacts is now open at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library on Highway 90 in Bay St. Louis.

The exhibit is part of the events scheduled in Hancock County in observance of Mississippi Archaeology Month. This observance is a statewide effort to inform the public about the role archaeology plays in understanding the history of many groups of people who have lived in the state. Mississippi has a diverse history and a prehistory stretching back hundreds of years. Mississippi Archaeology Month brings together people of all ages and backgrounds to learn more about the archaeology of our state.

During October, activities throughout the state will focus on archaeology. Public lectures, slideshows, demonstrations, site tours, and more are scheduled. These programs are financially assisted by the National Endowment for the Humanities through the Mississippi Humanities

Edmond Boudreaux, president of the Gulf Coast Chapter of the Mississippi Archaeological Association, will present a look at Gulf Coast Indians from pre-history to the French Colonial Period. Gulf Coast Indian History is set for Thursday, Oct. 7, at 7 p.m. in the Seal Room of the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library.

The Mississippi Archaeological Association is an organization of professional archaeologists and lay people actively involved with archaeology and archaeological preservation, uniting in a common effort to understand the prehistory and history of Mississippi and the surrounding region.

More information on these programs should contact Edmond Boudreaux at 228-806-1570, lecajun@bell-south.net, or Jamie Elston or Mary Perkins, Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library, 228-467-5282.

Ladies -- Logtown

who loved it. With their help I have seen the Logtown they remember, not as an overgrown patch of woods but as a thriving community, filled with a spirit of goodwill and fellowship, where neighbors of all creeds and colors lived together in harmony. And like them, I felt a sadness when I had to leave it to come back to the world outside.

"Oh it was a beautiful place ... Logtown," said Sister Lillie Sams, the wife of 53 years of deceased Rev. Robert Sams and daughter of tavern owners Minnie and Oran Moultrie. "Black and white got along like peas in a pod ... there was cooperation and everybody got along ... we were all together, not like it is now. Even now when we meet in the store or someplace we hug and talk about how we miss the togetherness."

Today, Sister Sams, Sister Mary Acker, Sister Lillian Rogers and I take a drive through the woods past the places of their youth, and of course to the cemeteries, the center of activity these days in the lost communities.

Another friend, Sister Mildred Wheat, daughter of Sarah Vagn Keyes and Joe Keyes, couldn't make it out for today's drive.

It was hot and steamy from the intermittent rain, but the ladies wanted the windows down to take in the good air, they said.

"You can cut off that air (conditioner)," said Sister Rogers as she rolled down her window when we turned down the road toward The Point.

The ladies know that the air will make them remember, as it always does. And later, under Sister Sam's carport, with the help of homemade orange cake, Sister Wheat would remember too.

As we drove along, the ladies pointed out the long ago lost locations of friends' homes, their churches, and other remembered places, reclaimed by the dense green tangle.

All but Sister Acker, who hails from Gainesville, had been born in Logtown, as had most of their parents ran out from the church to scare us ... everybody ran off and left me and I was so scared I couldn't move ... someone said, you better go back and get your wife. It turned out to be my sister ly's gravesite under the cover of an umbrella. Out of the car, we looked over family gravesites. Sister Sams' headstone was already erected by her husband, the Rev. Sams.

The name on the stone reads Lilly Moultrie in the place where will be when she returns home for the final time.

"Back over that way was one of the main fishin' spots," she said pointing over the hill toward the river. "You could catch all the perch you could want. My mother used to ride her bicycle from out here to the river in Logtown and to the post office ... we used to walk all around here, there were fishing spots all over, and across to a place called Possum Walk."

We decided to take a drive to the river and on the way discussed the Baptisms of emersion that took place regularly and still do at the Pearl River at Logtown. Sister Wheat and Sister Rogers were both recently Baptized again.

"Right over there was a garden for the whole community, by Bogohoma Bridge," said Sister Sams. "You could get green beans and cabbage."

At the river we stopped to fill empty plastic bottles at the artesian spring. Somebody had broke of the spigot, but the water still bubbled up. It could have been liquid gold for all the excitement the ladies got out of being able to taste the spring water again. On the way back to the main road we spotted a giant palm tree that no one remembered seeing before, a reminder of a long ago home garden that was built in that spot.

It has been a good day. "We regretted having to move, we regretted it but there was nothing we could do about it," said Sister Sams. "We got little or nothing and not what we were supposed to get ... it put us all in a lot of debt. I would go back today if I could."

and grandparents, and all had married boys that they had, for the most part, grew up with. They had grown up together, and played together and prayed together at the Big Mt. Zion African Methodist Episcopal Church in Logtown, sisters in spirit and neighbors all their lives. And later, after the exile to Pearlinton, Sister Sam's husband Robert, had continued the ministry at Greater Mt. Zion as Reverend for 40 years till his death seven years back.

"We courted for years and years," said Sister Sams. "He was always a scary man ... it was very dark out there honey, so dark, and he would come to court me and he was scared to walk back home and my mother would have to take him home."

One night after we were married a bunch of us were out walking at night and someone covered in a sheet

Viola (under the sheet)."

Sister Sam's father owned Moultrie Bar, but he ran it like a church, she said, and allowed no cursing in his establishment. He was strict, very strict, but wasn't baptized as a Christian until just before he died, she said.

She remembers the first time she tried to drive.

"I ran into a big tree by the bar," she said.

Girls didn't do like they do now, she said, you pretty much went to church and came back to the house ... there was no running around back in those days. Her mother Minnie was a seamstress and she sewed real good and used the money to send her kids to school.

When we got to the cemetery at The Point it was raining and we had to wait till the shower passed to get out of the car. Another friend was visiting his famithe large family of the builder. It was a short walk from his family's house to the church in one direction and a short walk in the opposite direction to the cemetery where the women would be buried today.

The church and the woman grew. Not in size, for she was never very large, and the churches original 40 by 80 feet never expanded very far beyond its original foundation. Perhaps it is better to say they evolved, matured, slipped into the dozens on dozens of years of the century, adapting to the needs of those years, both finding themselves enhanced with the passage of time, wearing the years with a grace that did them and the people around them proud to see and be a part of.

The church was renovated inside in 1992. Driftwood from the shores of the Bay was made into an altar and a pulpit, the white walls were repainted as an arborescent scene with a brown Jesus floating in space before a huge live oak. Entwined in the tree limbs in the upper part of the left and right side of the sanctuary were the parishioner's names. There are 350 families in the church and all the names are as yet not recorded. There is room and there is time, it will happen.

The women left the town and years later came back a teacher, coming back to the house where her father had died and her sisters and brothers had grown and left as well and had children and in turn had children many of whom still lived not far from the old family home and the church a slight distance away.

The ceremonies associated with the funeral were long. It didn't matter. No one seemed to be in a hurry. It was a comfortable church to sit in and watch the tableau, like a wake in the front parlor of a comfortable home, only without the stiffness of doilies.

A rosary was said before the Mass and people came in to the church in the back and talked quietly. There was almost a casual air to the mourners, young, old, talking about her, the stories, the lives, the essence of time that lay gracefully before them in the casket.

The casket was closed; she had asked that this be so. This seemed not to matter, the mourners knew her as she appeared in the eyes of each one's mind. There were few tears; there was little reason for sorrow except to feel a pang of what it was they were losing when the old woman left.

After the rosary, there was the Mass and Father Sebastian rose and gave the eulogy. He spoke quietly saying that he had known the woman for only a few years, but as he went on speaking, the mourners knew he knew her and his words echoed the same thoughts and sentiments that were theirs. Soon the mass was over and the parishioners gathered at the front of the church where stood a white hearse with glass windows and tall white wheels pulled by two beautiful white horses.

At 104 years of age, the woman was going to the cemetery in high style.

Once the casket was brought out and installed in the hearse, the horse started a slow pace down the two the kitchen. Unfortunately, the Mexican bush sage is mostly sold generically, but Midnight (dark purple) and Kab (dwarf lavender) are choice selections.

The Mexican bush sage is primarily a fall bloomer so plan on combining with other fall colors. The real "fiesta" will begin when grown with the Mexican sunflower, Tithonia rotundifolia. Though this Mexican native blooms all summer, it really struts its stuff in the fall.

This plant produces huge orange flowers with yellow centers and is a butterfly and hummingbird magnet. The old-fashioned Torch will usually tower above the Mexican bush sage, while the All American Selections Winner Fiesta del Sol looks super as a smaller 2 to 3 foot plant. It too is very heat and drought tolerant.

In addition to the Mexican sunflower, marigolds, lantanas, chrysanthemums, angel trumpets and other salvias make great companion plants.

You will find the Mexican bush sage easy to propagate by division with the emergence of spring growth or by cutting. In years past, you would only find them for sale in the spring, but since they weren't blooming many gardeners would pass them by.

Now progressive garden centers offer them in the fall as well in large pots and in bloom. So since you get two shots at this wonderful plant there is no excuse not to have them in your garden from now on. Get some this weekend.

St. Clare Church brings back annual fair set Oct. 31-Nov. 2

After seven years, St. Clare Catholic Church in Waveland is bringing back its annual fair.

St. Clare's very first fair was held in 1953. The parishioners held the fair as a surprise for their pastor, Michael Costello. It was then held for 43 consecutive years.

Since an annual fair substantially helps raise money for the parish and it's many ministries, it was decided, this year, to bring the fair back.

"We've received a lot of encouraging comments from people when hearing that we are bringing back the old St. Clare fair. Many reminisce about going to the fair when they were young and are happy that we are bringing back a fair that is designed to entertain children," said Carlos Lozano, co-chairman of the fair.

All of the fun and excitement kicks off on Halloween night with Trick-or-Treating for children. Other activities for the weekend include live entertainment, games, silent auctions, crafters, a white elephant booth, carnival rides, raffles, and lots of food, fun, prizes and surprises.

The fair will be held on the church grounds, Friday, Oct. 31, from 4 to 10 p.m.; Saturday, Nov. 1, from 11 a.m. - 11 p.m.; and on Sunday, Nov. 2, from noon to 6 p.m. Admission is free.

There are still spaces available for crafters; interested parties may call the church office for rental information.

Anyone wishing to make a donation for support of the fair may also call the office or simply send it to: St. Clare Catholic Church, P.O. Box 500, Waveland, MS. 39576

St. Clare Catholic Church is located at 236 South Beach Blvd. in Waveland.

The church office telephone number is 228-467-9275.

DMR seeks local creative youth for art competition

Entries needed by Oct. 17 from high school students

If you're a young artist who's got a creative flare and an interest in the marine environment, you may have what it takes to have your artwork featured in the 2004 Department of Marine Resources (DMR) Marine Information Calendar.

The DMR is sponsoring an art contest for high school students in Harrison, Hancock and Jackson counties in grades 10 through 12 to celebrate Mississippi's marine resources. All art contest entries must be received by Oct. 17.

This year's theme is "Preserving and Enjoying Mississippi's Coastal Resources." Artists may choose to illustrate one of the following topics:

- Estuaries/Wetland Habitats (which contain pitcher plant bogs, pine savannas, Great Blue Herons, Snowy Egrets, etc.)
- Marinas (recreational boats)
- Saltwater Fishing/Deep Sea Fishing
- Boat and Water Safety (people boating or on jet skis wearing lifejackets)
- People fishing near Deer Island
- Shrimp boats
- Reeling in a record-breaking saltwater fish (Red Snapper, Cobia, etc.)
- Blue Crabs, crabbing
- Mississippi Coastal Cleanup (volunteers cleaning beaches or a sea turtle swimming toward a six-pack ring)

- Kid's fishing rodeo, catch and release
- Schooners, oyster tongs

• Christmas on the Water
Entries should be on 8 1/2 inch by 11 inch paper. Any media (e.g., pen and ink, colored pencil, acrylics, charcoal, pastels, collage, water color, etc.) may be used. Orientation of art must be horizontal.

Include the artist's name, age, grade, school name and hometown on the back of the submitted artwork.

For more information about the contest, contact Susan Perkins at (228) 374-5022, ext. 5062, or susan.perkins@dmr.state.ms.us.

Local American Legion members attend conference

The American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary's annual Region IV National Leadership and Information Conference was held recently in Dallas.

Twelve members from Mississippi attended the conference. Representing The American Legion were Department of Mississippi Commander John Wilkerson of Bay St. Louis, Ninth District Commander Joe Kersch of Hattiesburg, and Region IV Veterans Affairs Chairman Robert Goza of Calhoun City.

Department of Mississippi President Bobbie Worrell, represented the American Legion Auxiliary; along with Second Vice President Glenda Wheelis of Laurel; Historian Shirley Turner of Cleveland; Unit Development and Revitalization Co-

Chairman Lou Wilkerson, Public Relations Chairman Diane Cantrell of Gautier; Junior Activities Chairman Susan Adams of Waveland; and Unit 24 Member Mary Hudson of Hattiesburg. Department of Mississippi Commander Billy Adams and member James Kelly, both of Waveland, represented the Sons of the American Legion (SAL). More than 100 other Legionnaires and Auxiliaries from throughout Region IV were in attendance.

The conference is designed to provide an effective 'Train the Trainer' venue to inform, educate, train, motivate, and share organizational objectives for current and future leaders in order for them to develop and revitalize programs for The American Legion Posts, SAL Squadrons, and Auxiliary Units. Seminars for the two-day event covered working programs in Americanism, Auxiliary, Children & Youth, Legislative, Membership, Public Relations, SAL, and Veterans Affairs.

The Conference was addressed by National Commander John A. Briden III and National President Katherine Morris, both of Texas.

President Worrell was presented an award for Mississippi having reached the highest percentage of membership goal among the five Region IV states of Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Texas and Mississippi.

Upon completion of the training, the graduates were presented a 2003 Graduation Certificate and a lapel pin, indicating their accomplishment.

Following the graduation ceremony, the Love Field Post 453 in Dallas hosted a dinner for the conferees.

MGCCC teams with Ohio university for more degrees

Franklin University reps to hold training sessions Oct. 6-7 at Jackson County, Jeff Davis and Perk

Starting this fall, Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College students have a new way to earn a four-year degree.

The college has entered into a partnership with Franklin University in Columbus, Ohio, allowing students to earn one of 10 bachelor degrees without leaving home.

This partnership allows students to take three years of course work from Gulf Coast and complete their final year online with Franklin.

Once a Gulf Coast student earns an associate's degree, they will take an additional 20 hours, depending on the degree, at college paying community-college tuition rates.

These hours are applied directly to the bachelor's degree, and an additional 40 hours are taken through Franklin.

Representatives from Franklin University will hold training sessions for career counselors, Student Services personnel and faculty advisers at the Jackson County Campus on Oct. 6 and at Jefferson Davis and Perkinston campuses on Oct. 7.

Ten Franklin University bachelor degrees are currently available to Gulf Coast students who are interested in the Accounting, Applied Management, Business Administration, Computer Science, Digital Communication, Health Care Management, Technology Management, Information Sciences or Public Safety programs.

Dr. Cheryl Thompson-Stacy, vice president for Academic and Student Affairs at Gulf Coast, believes this new partnership brings more opportunities to its students.

"As educators, it is our responsibility to ensure that students have the best possible chance for completion of their educational goals. This agreement gives them another option toward those goals."

Franklin is accredited by the North Central Regional Accrediting Agency and works with 190 community colleges nationwide to offer online bachelor-degree programs to community-college graduates. Gulf Coast is the first community college in Mississippi to become a partner with Franklin.

Mississippi No-Call list

The Mississippi Public Service Commission has already begun to enforce the Mississippi NO-Call List. The pending legal issues in Federal Court regarding the enforcement of the Federal Registry have had no effect on the Mississippi List. It is unclear about who will enforce the Federal Registry.

"We are ready to start enforcing the No-Call program. There are identified telemarketers who are already violating the law," stated Southern District Commissioner and PSC Chairman Michael Callahan.

Even though the enforcement of the No-Call List started today, the law went into effect July 1st. Some telemarketers have been violating the law by blocking the caller ID, calling on Sundays, or utilizing automated recordings. "These law-breakers will be the first ones we target!" Chairman Callahan emphasized.

"We will aggressively pursue telemarketers who are calling our Mississippi consumers, yet, they have not registered with the Public Service Commission, have not posted bond, and/or have not purchased the No-Call List", stated Chairman Callahan.

Investigation and enforcement of illegal telemarketing will depend on the detailed and accurate information provided to the Commission by consumers. "As I have stated before, it is critical that consumers familiarize themselves with the complaint forms so that they know what information will be required to file a complaint" added Callahan.

All complaints must be filed in writing. Consumers may obtain a complaint form by going online at www.psc.state.ms.us or by calling Commissioner Callahan's office, toll free, at 800-356-6429.

Huey Lewis & the News cruise into Casino Magic Oct. 10-11

Huey Lewis and the News

Eighties hit-makers Huey Lewis and the News will perform two shows at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis October 10th and 11th at 9 p.m. to cap off the 8th Annual Cruisin' the Coast Car Show weekend.

Tickets are available for $29.95, $34.95 & $39.95 at the Casino Magic Box Office, by calling 1-800-5-MAGIC-5 or through any Ticketmaster outlet.

In the early 80's Huey Lewis and the News burst onto the music scene with two hit-packed albums and a slew of zany videos to wow audiences with their fun-loving Rock n' Roll sound. Their hits include: "Do You Believe In Love," "I Want A New Drug," "Heart and Soul," "If This Is It," "Heart of Rock n' Roll," "Do In It All For My Baby," "Hip to Be Square," "Stuck With You," "Some Kind of Wonderful" and "Power of Love" from the "Back to the Future" soundtrack just to name a few. Today the band tours with four of its original members: Lewis, Johnny Colla on sax and guitar, Bill Gibson on drums and Sean Hooper on keyboards.

In the 90's a new "News Brothers" horn section comprised of Marvin McFadden on trumpet, Ron Stallings on tenor sax and Rob Sadduth on baritone sax was added to deliver an even more dynamic live show from the first note to the last. Other new members include: Stef Burns on guitar and John Pierce on bass. Must be 21 to attend.

'How to Succeed in Business without Really Trying'

Bay St. Louis Little Theatre will present the musical comedy "How to Succeed in Business without Really Trying" Oct. 16-18 and 24-26.

This Tony award-winning play tells the story of J. Pierrepont Finch, who is more than just an ambitious window washer.

He works his way up the corporate ladder by the book — not the book that the executives would have written — but a quirky little tome entitled "How to Succeed in Business without Really Trying."

The book teaches Finch how to advance quickly through the ranks of the World Wide Wicket Company while exploiting a precarious relationship with the president, Mr. Biggley, who has eyes for new secretary and former "cigarette girl" from the local gentlemen's club, Hedy La Rue.

Along the way Finch faces an expected enmity from Biggley's nephew, Bud Frump, who sees Finch as an obstacle to his own ambitions.

Unexpectedly, Finch encounters romance (something the book tells him nothing about) with the charming ingenue, Rosemary. Even with his book, the young man seems to make his way to the top astride a wobbly tight rope. If he misses a step, he could bring himself, Rosemary, and maybe the whole company crashing down.

Producer Scott Darrah and director Jay Coker lead a capable production team including assistant director Michelle Kessling, choreographer Cheryl Grace and musical director Rev. Scotty Hardway.

"How to Succeed in Business without Really Trying" features music and lyrics by Frank Loesser and book by Abe Burrows, Jack Weinstock and Willie Gilbert based on the novel by Shepherd Mead. Loesser and Burrows are also famously known as the writers who brought us Guys and Dolls.

Show times are at 8 p.m. Thursday through Saturday with a special matinee at 2 p.m. on Oct. 26.

Admission is $12 for adults and $7 for students 17 and below. Tickets will be available at the door on the night of the show.

Cruisin' the Coast

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 5, 2003 • SPECIAL SECTION

GOIN' BACK IN TIME – Visitors to downtown Bay St. Louis during last year's Cruisin' the Coast compared the experience to "stepping out of a time machine." Nearly 5,000 classic cars from all over the United States and Canada are expected this year.

Start your engines for a Bumper to Bumper Blast

Bay St. Louis braces for thousands of classic cars

THE SEA COAST ECHO Get ready for some flashback fun with Cruisin' the Coast this Sun., Oct. 5-Sun., Oct. 12. Cruisin' Car enthusiasts from over 35 states and Canada drive to the Mississippi Gulf Coast once a year to showcase and to cruise a variety of antique, classic and hot rod automobiles at designated stops along the Coast in Ocean Springs, Biloxi, D'Iberville, Gulfport, Long Beach, and Bay St. Louis.

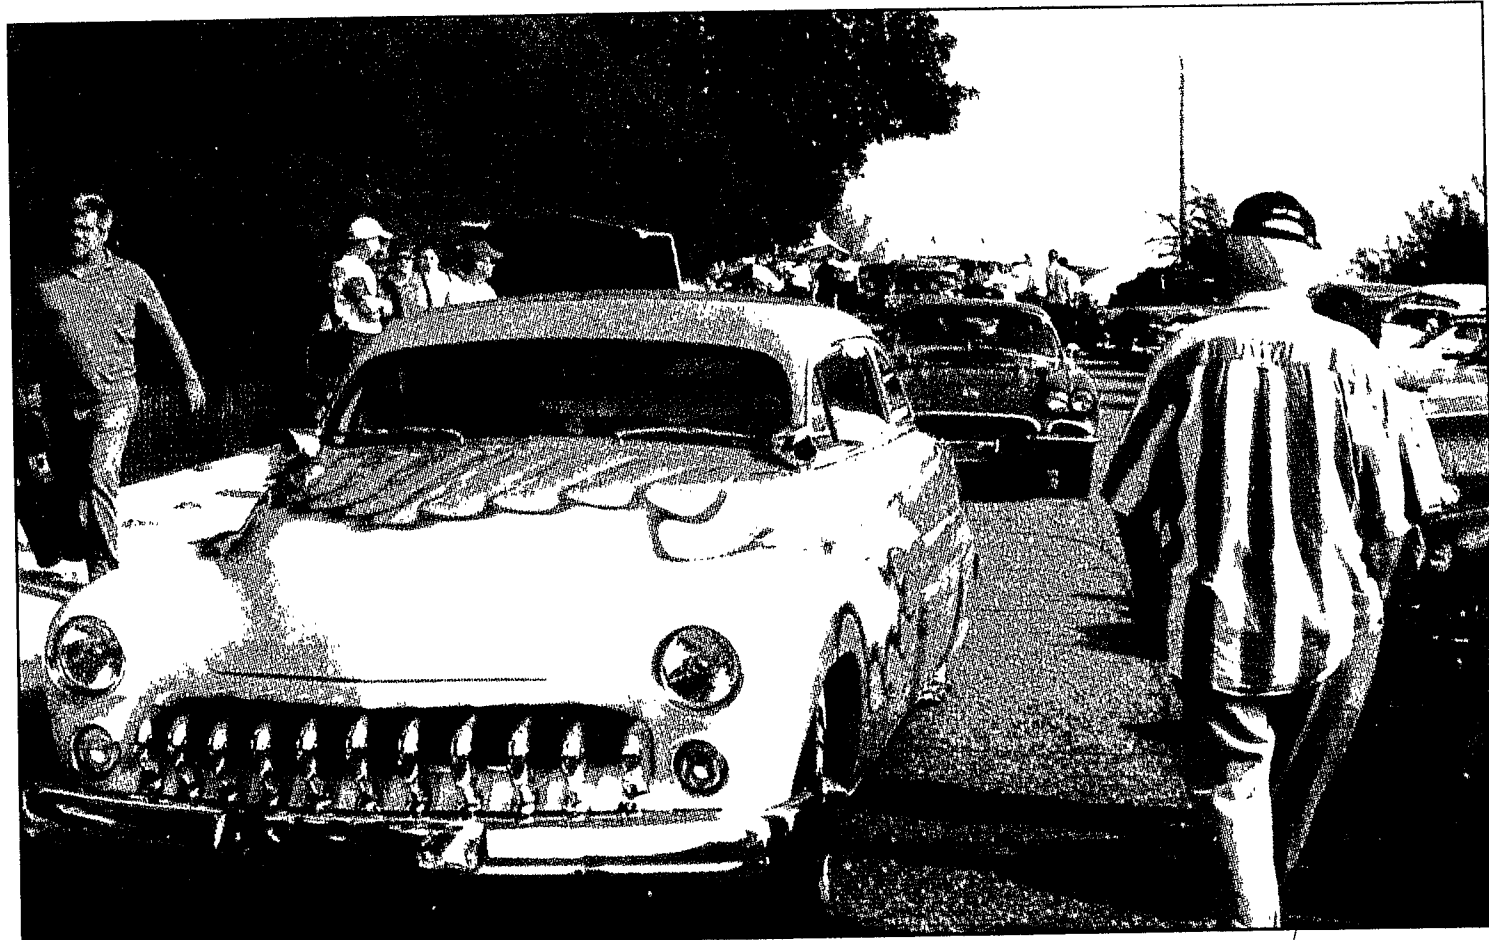

Last year, Cruisin' The Coast® drew in an impressive 4026 registered cars and shows no signs of slowing down.

Cruisin' The Coast® received the Governor's Excellence in Tourism

Award as Festival/Event of the Year in the State of Mississippi. Cruisin' The Coast® was also named the recipient of the "Shining Example Award" for Best Festival/Event of the year by the Southeast Tourism Society, one of the "100 Events for the Year of 2001" by the American Bus Association and was also named a Southern Travel Treasure by AAA's magazine, AAA Southern Traveler.

Bay St. Louis is a very popular venue for cruisers and spectators because its location on the water and in the heart of Old Town, offering much more in goods, services and personality than the large parking lot venues of other areas.

• The entertainment stage will be located on the Court House grounds on Main and Cue St.

With the addition of Our Lady of the Gulfs parking lot and festival grounds for registered Cruisin' cars and the expansion to the 300 block of Main St. we have planned to accommodate the top number of cars we can expect. We don't want anyone to not have a space in the official festival site and leave unhappy. If necessary we will expand further down Main St. and south Beach Blvd.," continued the Mayor.

The city's Fire Department will add to public safety with the location of Engine 2 at the corner of DeMontluzin and Beach. We will also offer additional first aid support to our guests at this site, in addition to the roving safety vehicle," offered Fire Chief Robert Gavagnie.

Local police, with the assistance of additional officers from Waveland and the Sheriff's Department, will man each street closure. Foot patrols will deploy from the mobile Special Operations Command Center located at the Court House. The Center will also serve to keep lost children until they can be reunited with parents.

"Because we are expecting even larger crowds this year no bicycles, skateboards, glass containers or open fires will be allowed on the festival site. No animals will be allowed, particularly exotic animals," said Assistant PD Chief Dave Stepro. "We try very hard to not inhibit anyone's fun at the event but public safety is our priority. These few rules cannot be construed as any imposition on our visitors," he continued.

Public meetings for festival site residents and businesses will be held at City Hall Annex as follows: Wednesday, September 24th - Residents: 5:30 p.m. Businesses: 6:30 p.m. Thursday, September 25th - Residents: 5:30 p.m. Businesses: 6:30 p.m.

SPECTATOR PARKING

Spectator parking will be available at the historic Depot located at Union St. and Railroad Ave. Visitors are encouraged to park west of Second St. on streets intersecting Main and asked not to block any driveways. "This is the hard part - finding parking for our spectators. We just ask that they use good common sense and courtesy and our residents please be patient and helpful," said Mayor Favre.

"This is a true partnership event and the most important partners are the people of Bay Saint Louis who have consistently made visitors feel welcome and so special that many return several times throughout the year. First Baptist, Main Street Methodist and Our Lady of the Gulf churches have stepped up to be players, offering their parking lots and additional grounds to help us have a very successful event. Old Town businesses cooperate to the fullest.

Leroy Johns hams it up while directing traffic at last year's Cruisin' the Coast in downtown Bay St. Louis.

John Hensley

Checking in With John Hensley

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

John Hensley stifled his Kentucky drawl to play the teenage son of Sean McNamara (Dylan Walsh), an Irish-American plastic surgeon, in FX Network's Tuesday-night hit "Nip/Tuck."

The irony of his character's age is not lost on Hensley, who just turned 26 - but the role of Matt McNamara was too good to turn down.

"Matt was originally written as a 15-year-old kid," Hensley says, his native accent evident. "When I first heard about it, I thought, 'Wow, they want me to come in audition for this 15-year-old kid. I'm not even close.'"

"That initially set me back from it, but then when I read it, it was undeniable that at the root of it, he's just as smart as every other character on the show. He may not know that he's that smart, but he's definitely got stuff going on."

"So I immediately was drawn to it, and they didn't have too much problem with the age difference. They bumped his age up a couple years, and there we go."

So far, Matt has made out with his cheerleader girlfriend (Kate Mara), tried to circumcise himself to please her, and found her making out with her cheerleader girlfriend. And his father's swinging partner, Christian Troy (Julian McMahon), took him to a porn-studio party.

"Nip/Tuck" is Hensley's third series, and although it's not a Paramount production, it shoots on the Paramount Studios lot, the last major studio lot left in Hollywood.

"It sounds so stupid, but I called my mom, and I said, 'Mom, I've just got to say this to you, but this is pretty damn cool that I'm driving through these gates. I'm used to being the guy who has to go there to audition and park on the street. All of a sudden, I get to drive in here!'"

"It was a cool experience."

Birthplace: Kentucky, on Aug. 29, 1977.

Family: Parents (divorced) and sister.

Is he Irish or does he just play it on television?: "There's a lot of Irish in my family. I'm a mutt, though."

Mob connection: Played the high-school boyfriend of mobster's daughter Meadow Soprano (Jamie-Lynn Sigler) in "The Sopranos."

Other pursuits: Hensley spent three years after high school working as a horse wrangler in Wyoming.

Fan mail: C/O FX Networks, 10000 Santa Monica Blvd, Los Angeles, CA 90067.

Featured Ken Burns traces America's first road trip for PBS

By John Crook

While most Americans may be back in full work mode after summer drives around the country, documentarian Ken Burns takes an engrossing and surprisingly whimsical look at the first recorded U.S. cross-country automobile trip in "Horatio's Drive: America's First Road Trip," airing Monday, Oct. 6, on most PBS affiliates (check local listings).

The 1903 journey in question began when Horatio Nelson Jackson, a 31-year-old Vermont doctor who was passing through San Francisco, accepted a men's club challenge over the reliability of the new so-called "horseless carriage."

Under the terms of the bet, Jackson would win $50 if he made it all the way by car to New York, something no one else had done, in less than three months.

Jackson hired a 22-year-old bicycle repairman named Sewall K. Crocker to be his traveling companion and mechanic. On May 23, 1903, the pair set off, picking up en route the third member of their party: Bud, a bulldog.

As the trio made its breakdown-fraught way east, the trip turned into a race when both the Packard and Oldsmobile companies dispatched their own drivers from California in hopes of passing Jackson and becoming the first to cross the nation.

Despite mishaps, Jackson and Crocker won, crossing the Harlem River into Manhattan at 4:30 a.m. on Sunday, July 26. Jackson never collected the $50 on a trip that cost him $8,000.

The story behind "Horatio's Drive" was brought to Burns by frequent collaborator Dayton Duncan, but Burns resisted the project at first.

Mary Tyler Moore

Mary Tyler Moore, star of CBS' "Blessings" Sunday, Oct. 5, says of Katharine Hepburn, "I am such a parrot, I might have really picked up her tone of voice. If you go back to some of the early days of 'The Dick Van Dyke Show' there is very

'Tarzan's' noble savage invades The WB's Sunday night

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

In his 1755 "Discourse on the Origin of Inequality Among Men," French philosopher Jean-Jacques Rousseau stated, "Man in his natural state was born essentially good and free of all prejudices."

In a summer when Bravo's "Queer Eye for the Straight Guy" has attempted to tweeze, wax, massage, redecorate and redress man in his natural state in the hopes of making something more civilized out of him, Rousseau's "noble savage" seems in danger of being replaced by the urbane metrosexual.

Just in the nick of time, in swings The WB Network's "Tarzan," hoping to earn big ratings by unleashing the most natural of men on that most urban of environments, New York.

To this end, this updated version of Edgar Rice Burroughs' 1912 pulp classic has enlisted chiseled 24-year-old Australian farmboy Travis Fimmel, who apparently walked out of Oz, all azure eyes and cornsilk hair, right onto Calvin Klein billboards a few years ago. It's a fairy tale out of Central Casting, right down to Fimmel showing up to audition for "Tarzan" barefoot.

Lest you laugh, Fimmel says it's all true. "First audition, I was allowed to wear bare feet. I'd been searching for a role where I could wear bare feet."

Premiering Sunday, Oct. 5, "Tarzan" turns John Clayton into the scion of a rich and powerful Gotham family, lost with his parents at the age of six in the jungles of Africa. Armed with satellite imagery, his uncle, Richard Clayton (Mitch Pileggi, "The X-Files"), finds the downed plane, only to have one of his men shoot a member of Tarzan's ape family - and Tarzan himself.

Richard then brings his nephew back home with the aim of civilizing him, but the barefoot boy - who favors either no shirts or a fashionably tattered, thrift-shop look - eludes his captors and heads out onto the streets of Manhattan.

There he meets NYPD detective Jane Porter (Sarah Wayne Callies), who is weighed down by the demands of civilization - tough job, demanding boss and a handsome cop boyfriend (Johnny Messner) who wants to commit.

Tarzan shows up to save the day, and before long, boyfriend notwithstanding, Jane can't resist his smoldering glances and occasional bursts of speech - not to mention the mystery posed by the controlling and enigmatic Richard.

"I think this show is about a long, drawn-out, tortured, anguished love story," says co-executive producer Eric Kripke, who wrote the pilot. "On the one hand, Tarzan's beautiful; he's ethereal; he's profound; he's innocent; he's Rousseau's noble savage. Where Jane was ordered, he's wild. Where she was in control, he's totally impulsive. Where she was a little more down-to-Earth, he's totally romantic and passionate."

Fimmel agrees. "I see him as a guy who hasn't been corrupted by human surroundings and society. He's just so pure and has to rely on his primary instincts. I think he's childish as well. It's not a weakness, but he's helping people that can't help themselves."

"On the other hand," Kripke continues, "he's predatory. It's the savage part of the noble savage. He acts inappropriately. He doesn't understand the civilization in which he lives. He's violent; he's uncontrollable. What kind of future are you really going to have with this guy? Are you going to take him home to your mother? Are you going to raise kids, drop them off at day care?"

The second part of the pilot introduces Richard's equally powerful sister Katherine, played by "Xena: Warrior Princess" star Lucy Lawless, and the struggle moves from an internal one for Tarzan and Jane to an external one for control of the Clayton fortune and business, Greystoke Industries.

"Richard's point of view makes sense," Kripke says, "because you're letting this guy run around wild. You're letting him kick people's asses. You're letting him risk life and limb, week after week, and he's a very valuable person. He's the heir to this family dynasty. He needs to be protected, and he needs to be civilized."

New 'House' host stumbled into dream job

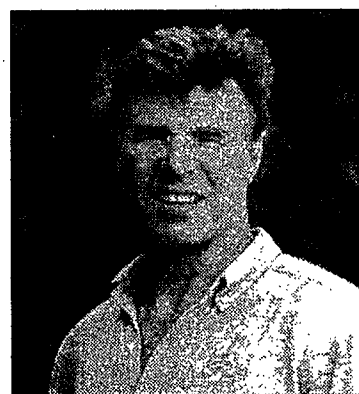

By Taylor Michaels
© Zap2it

Q What happened to Steve Thomas from "This Old House"? He disappeared without explanation. -Laurie in Sacramento, Calif.

A There's no dirty little secret. It's simply that, after 14 years on "This Old House," Thomas wanted to move on to other things, reportedly including some new projects on the DIY Network. He left under very amicable terms and will continue to be seen in repeats of older episodes of "This Old House."

New host Kevin O'Connor is still in "pinch me, I must be dreaming" mode. The former bank executive landed his "House" gig through sheer serendipity, after he and his wife, Kathleen, e-mailed "Ask This Old House" for tips on renovating their first home, a Queen Anne Victorian.

To the couple's shock, a "This Old House" crew showed up to offer advice and assistance, and the show's producers noticed O'Connor's easy on-camera rapport with the "House" team. He spent much of the past summer at "This Old House boot camp" with master carpenter Norm Abram, general contractor Tom Silva, heating and plumbing guru Richard Trethewey and landscape contractor Roger Cook. "My friends are so jealous," O'Connor laughs.

Q Is Jackie Swanson, the actress who played Woody's girlfriend (later wife) Kelly on "Cheers," the same woman driving a Ford Explorer that meets up with a submarine on an ice floe in a current Ford TV ad? -Ty Bass, Glendale, Ariz.

A Yes, it is, Ty, and the fact that you recognized her freaks me out a little. Very impressive.

Q Eric Close of "Without a Trace" starred in another series some years ago. What was it? -J.J. Turley, Paramus, N.J.

A Actually, Close, 36, has been in several series, although I suspect you may be thinking of "Now and Again," a 1999-2000 CBS sci-fi series, in which his character was an accident victim whose brain was put into a new, biogenetically engineered body.

Prior to that, Close starred in the short-lived CBS 1998 Western "The Magnificent Seven," the NBC alien invasion thriller "Dark Skies" (1996-97), "Sisters" (NBC, 1995-96), "McKenna" (ABC, 1994-95) and his TV series debut, the NBC soap "Santa Barbara" (1992-93).

ESPN's Melrose: Devils, Wings look tough in 2003-04

By George Dickie
© Zap2it

The New Jersey Devils were the classic overachievers last season.

In making their way to the Stanley Cup Finals, the eventual champs boasted no 30-goal scorers, had only four players reach 50 or more points, and possessed one of the weakest power plays in hockey.

Yet, they got it done, thanks to the best penalty killing in the league and a defense that was tied with the Philadelphia Flyers for the fewest goals allowed - 166.

Now, the Jersey swamp-dwellers come into the new season without key contributors Joe Nieuwendyk, Ken Daneyko and Oleg Tverdokovsky. Second-year coach Pat Burns must blend newcomers Igor Larionov, Erik Rasmussen and Sean Brown into a veteran unit that includes Patrik Elias, Scott Stevens and Martin Brodeur.

The season gets under way Wednesday, Oct. 8, and ESPN marks the occasion with a three-game regional telecast that includes the defending champion Devils facing the Boston Bruins in Boston. Other markets will see a Mighty Ducks of Anaheim-Dallas Stars matchup or a clash between the surprising Minnesota Wild and the Chicago Blackhawks.

Barry Melrose, a hockey analyst for ESPN, feels the Devils should have enough to repeat as Atlantic Division champs and to even get back to the finals. "New Jersey, on paper, should win," Melrose says. "They're not as talented as the teams they're playing against. They lose Nieuwendyk this year, who was one of their best players. But they lost him in the finals last year and still won the Stanley Cup. They've added Larionov, who will fit in perfectly for what they try and do. And in the East, the road to the Cup goes through New Jersey. Four times in the last eight years, they've been to the finals. They're always a player come playoff time. So they're just the best team - not the most talented team - but they're the best team in the East.

"You've got goaltending," Melrose continues. "You've got defense; you've got some young guys who can put the puck into the net, and again, they don't need a lot of goals to win. So, it's hard to look past New Jersey in the East."

In the Northeast, Melrose believes it's time for the talented Ottawa Senators to step up. "They've lost (left wing Magnus) Arvedson, which'll hurt them because he's a very solid player - a good two-way player, a 20-goal scorer, plus great defensively. But on paper, everyone's a year older. Some people say you have to lose before you can win. Well, I think Ottawa has proven that - they've lost, now they've got to win. Again, they're one of the most talented teams in the East. They've got a lot of weapons, they've got a lot of stars. They've got to win now or they're going to get the underachieving, choking titles. But on paper, that is an excellent club and they almost beat New Jersey last year, so maybe they will turn the corner and become the winners that they should be."

Melrose looks for the Carolina Hurricanes to come out of the Southeast Division. "I like their defense," he says. "They were decimated by injuries last year. (LW Rod) Brind'Amour was out. They had a lot of injuries. They get (defenseman Glen) Wesley back; they add (D Bob) Boughner. That was a good defense anyway. So if their goaltending (Kevin Weekes) holds up ... I think Carolina's solid."

In the Central, the 2001-2002 champion Detroit Red Wings made a lot of offseason moves that Melrose likes, and that, he says, makes them the team to beat in the Western Conference. "That team did so many good things this summer," he says, "getting the goalie (Dominik Hasek) back. That'll make everybody better. Getting (D Derian) Hatcher. That serves two purposes: Number one, that makes your defense much, much better, but it also hurts Dallas. That's the best defense in hockey right now, and you win with defense."

"It's going to be interesting up front. But you've still got (RW Brett) Hull, you've still got (center Steve) Yzerman. You know, he's not Stevie Yzerman of 10 years ago, but he's still a solid two-way player, (C Pavel) Datsyuk, (LW Henrik) Zetterberg. You've got some guys who put the puck in the net up front, (LW Brendan) Shanahan, and they're always good defensively. So yeah, you've got to think Detroit is the team to beat, not only in the Central, but in the West."

In a very competitive Northwest Division, Melrose picks the Vancouver Canucks as the favorites. "Vancouver is the team to beat," he says. "I like that team a lot, and they add Arvedson, which will help them a lot. He fits in perfectly with what they do. They're a good hockey club - (RW Todd) Bertuzzi, (LW Markus) Naslund - a lot of offensive weapons. If the twins (Daniel and Henrik Sedin) could ever put together a good year and score some goals, boy, that would be a tough team to stop. So Vancouver is the best team in the Northwest. That's a good division, though, and a fun division to watch."

Barry Melrose thinks goalie Martin Brodeur (pictured) gives the New Jersey Devils an advantage. "If they do make mistakes, Brodeur saves their butts," he says. The NHL season begins Wednesday on ESPN.

Melrose thinks Mike Modano and the Dallas Stars are the best team in a weak Pacific Division. "The Pacific is not as strong as it once was," he says. "L.A.'s not as good as they once were. They've really been killed by injuries. San Jose's not the team they once were. Dallas now without Hatcher ... I think they're going to miss Hatcher big, big time. So I don't think they're as good a team as they once were. But I think they are the best team in that division. They're not the Dallas Stars we've seen the last eight years in the NHL without a doubt."

Mary Tyler Moore counts 'Blessings' in CBS movie

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Mary Tyler Moore is not known for vanity.

Consider her willingness to portray senior citizens, which she has done twice this year. Following her reunion last May with former series cohort Dick Van Dyke in PBS' "The Gin Game," the Emmy-winning comedy icon again is applying aging makeup. She stars as an elderly recluse in the new CBS version of Anna Quindlen's best seller "Blessings" Sunday, Oct. 5.

Needing a replacement for the handyman she fired, 80-year-old Lydia Blessing finds that person in Skip (Liam Waite, "King of Texas"), a young ex-convict who fixes her car problem in a department-store parking lot. Her housekeeper (China Chow, "The Big Hit"), Skip's former schoolmate, isn't happy about the new hire - nor is Lydia's daughter (Kathleen Quinlan, "Family Law"). After he finds an abandoned baby, the link between Lydia and Skip strengthens. Ralph Waite ("The Waltons"), Liam's father, plays the local sheriff.

Moore says, "The most freeing thing for me as an actress is to be able to let go of any preconceptions or expectations that can take you farther away from getting to the core of a character. This was a wonderfully freeing experience in a role that is very familiar to me. Lydia could be any number of the women in my family. There's an easy lesson to learn from watching someone like this: You have to loosen up enough to let life gently nudge you in the right directions."

When she saw herself in the mirror as an 80-year-old, Moore marveled at "how pretty I was. I was surprised by that. The makeup artist was just brilliant, and she knew that a lot of this movie was going to be played in closeups, so she spent time on the smaller strokes of an old-age look - the veins that are more apparent as you get older, the very fine lines. I came to this project with enough of my own, so it wasn't all that challenging."

Moore has high praise for "Blessings" co-star Liam Waite. "We had several days of rehearsals, and he'd say, 'We're not quite getting it, are we?' I'd think, 'Well, no. Not in a rehearsal, but that's OK.' He made me dig, though, and that was also the case on the set while we were filming. If he wanted to do something over, that was fine with me, because I knew I'd find more." Reuniting with "Gin Game" director Arvin Brown also pleased Moore. "He has insight, he does his homework, and he's comfortable with the television medium."

Lydia is reminiscent of many TV movie characters Katharine Hepburn played in the later years of her career. Although Moore never thought of that while filming the story, she notes "it's true (that Lydia also is) very strong and very determined. I hope her sense of humor comes across, because I had to fight for that on a couple of occasions, but that comparison suits me just fine."

A "Dick Van Dyke Show" reunion project is on track, according to Moore, but it may have to wait for her. She will star in Neil Simon's new play "Rose's Dilemma," set to open in New York in early December. The comedy-drama about a writer and her former lover will mark her return to the Big Apple stage scene after 15 years. Moore's 1980 run in "Whose Life Is It Anyway?" earned her a special Tony Award, and she says she is "just thrilled" about doing theater again. "I can't wait."

Television favorite Mary Tyler Moore stars as Lydia Blessing, an 80-year-old recluse who experiences major life changes when she meets by chance a young ex-convict and hires him as her handyman in "Blessings," based on a best-selling novel and premiering Sunday on CBS.

NFL, MLB championship series top TV slate

By George Dickie
© Zap2it

The NFL moves into Week 5 of the 2003-2004 schedule with a full slate of games, televised regionally and nationally.

The most noteworthy takes place Sunday, Oct. 5, on CBS (in some regions), when rivals for the AFC West crown, the Denver Broncos and Kansas City Chiefs, battle it out at Arrowhead Stadium in Kansas City, Mo. Both teams started the season off winning their first two games - Denver, despite an uneven performance by new quarterback Jake Plummer, and K.C., on the strength of a healthy Priest Holmes' running and an improved defense.

Other intradivisional games on the Sunday schedule, both of which air on Fox, are the New Orleans Saints visiting NFC South foes, the Carolina Panthers, and the Washington Redskins visiting the Philadelphia Eagles in an NFC East contest. On ESPN's "Sunday Night Football," quarterback Kelly Holcomb leads the Cleveland Browns into Heinz Field to face the AFC North rival Pittsburgh Steelers and their dynamic passing attack of quarterback Tommy Maddox, and receivers Plaxico Burress and Hines Ward.

The rest of the Sunday slate: Arizona Cardinals at Dallas Cowboys, Minnesota Vikings at Atlanta Falcons, Seattle Seahawks at Green Bay Packers, and Detroit Lions at San Francisco 49ers

(all on Fox); Oakland Raiders at Chicago Bears, Tennessee Titans at New England Patriots, Cincinnati Bengals at Buffalo Bills, Miami Dolphins at New York Giants, and San Diego Chargers at Jacksonville Jaguars (all on CBS).

ABC's "Monday Night Football" features a clash between the Indianapolis Colts and the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in Tampa, Fla.

All Fox and CBS games are regional broadcasts, so viewers should check local listings for the games in their area.

Major League Baseball swings into the second tier of its postseason this week when the League Championship Series gets under way Tuesday, Oct. 7, on Fox.

The winners from the just-concluded Division Series vie in these two best-of-seven series that decide which teams will represent the American and National Leagues in the World Series, which begins Oct. 18, on Fox.

Last year's champion, the Anaheim Angels, will not be among the teams vying for the championship.

This week also marks the beginning of the 2003-2004 NHL season. As was the case last year, ESPN, ESPN2 and ABC will be the national carriers, presenting up to 71 regular-season contests, primarily on Thursday nights and Sunday afternoons, on ESPN and ESPN2, and another five regional games (plus the All-Star Game on Feb. 8) on ABC.

The season begins Wednesday, Oct. 8, with ESPN's three-game, regional telecast, in which viewers will see the defending champion New Jersey Devils facing the Boston Bruins in Boston, the Anaheim Mighty Ducks visiting the Dallas Stars, or the Chicago Blackhawks hosting the Minnesota Wild.

The only other nationally televised game this week is Thursday, Oct. 9, when the retooled Detroit Red Wings play host to the Los Angeles Kings.

This week's PGA Tour event is the Las Vegas Invitational, a five-round tournament that airs live from three area courses Wednesday through Sunday. USA Network covers the first four rounds; ABC has the final round.

New Zealand's Phil Taitaurangi is the defending champion, thanks to some blistering play on Sunday last year. He rang up 10 birdies on his way to a 10-under 62, giving him a one-stroke victory over Jeff Sluman and Stuart Appleby.

Thanks to a quirk on the NASCAR schedule, two Winston Cup races fall within this week's racing calendar.

Sunday on NBC, it's the Banquet 400, which comes from the Kansas Speedway in Kansas City, Kan. Jeff Gordon is the defending champion, having out-duelled Ryan Newman and Rusty Wallace to the checkered flag a year ago.

On Saturday, Oct. 11, NBC airs the UAW-GM Quality 500 from Lowe's Motor Speedway in Concord, N.C. Last year, Jamie McMurray became the only driver in modern Winston Cup history to win in his second career start.

"NFL Football" Sunday, Oct. 5 (ESPN, 8:30 p.m. ET): The "Rust Belt Rivalry," fueled by only 133 miles of highway between the cities, is revved up once again when the Cleveland Browns visit the Pittsburgh Steelers. The last time Cleveland made the trek south was for a wild-card playoff game in January, only to see its defense collapse in a 36-33 defeat. The Browns' defenders will need to be much sharper tonight against QB Tommy Maddox and his plethora of wide receiver options.

"MLB Baseball" Tuesday, Oct. 7 (Fox, 8 p.m. ET): Now that division play has ended, Fox takes over as the sole network provider of postseason baseball action, beginning tonight with Game 1 of the National League Championship Series. The ALCS follows suit Wednesday. The best-of-seven formats in each league includes two travel days, after Game 2 and, if necessary, Game 5. The World Series is slated to begin on Oct. 18.

"NHL Hockey" Wednesday, Oct. 8 (ESPN, 8 p.m. ET): The puck drops on the NHL season tonight, and ESPN covers all three games on a regional basis. Viewers will see either playoff MVP J.S. Giguere and the Mighty Ducks of Anaheim at Mike Modano and the Dallas Stars; the Chicago Blackhawks hosting the surprise team of last season, the Minnesota Wild; or Martin Brodeur and the Stanley Cup champion New Jersey Devils visiting the Boston Bruins.

Raising the Mammoth

This special chronicles the amazing discovery of a fully preserved woolly mammoth, unearthed from layers of permafrost in Siberia. A team of international scientists spent two years trying to move the extinct beast for proper study, eventually having it airlifted to a nearby town in October of 1999. The program documents their efforts and highlights the potential information this animal will provide for the future of science.

7 p.m. and TBS

Movie: Save the Last Dance

This MTV-produced drama was one of the first big theatrical hits of 2001. Julia Stiles plays an aspiring dancer whose mother is killed on the way to one of her recitals. Transferred to an inner-city school, she finds her place — in terms of both emotions and desired career — by learning hip-hop moves from a sympathetic new peer (Sean Patrick Thomas, "The District").

Stinkers! The Ten Smelliest Animals in the World: Nigel's Wild, Wild World

This hour leaves you feeling grateful your television set doesn't have smell-o-vision. Host Nigel Marven explains the many roles played by scent in the world of animals, from attracting a mate to repelling a threat, and counts down the stinkiest species, which include the stink bug (no surprise there), the wolverine, the turkey vulture and, of course, the skunk — which, believe it or not, isn't No. 1.

Movie: Splash

Tom Hanks makes a splash in Ron Howard's 1984 romantic comedy as a bachelor whose dull life takes an exciting turn when he falls in love with a beautiful mermaid (Daryl Hannah). Of course, scientists and the military want to capture and study her, and it's up to him to keep them off her tail. John Candy, Eugene Levy and Dody Goodman also star.

4 p.m. on DSC

Ice Age Survivors

This documentary examines the great herds of mammals that roamed the Earth during the last Ice Age, of which only a few descendants have survived. East Africa has rhinos, hippos, crocodiles, giraffes and Cape buffalo, while bison, pronghorn antelopes and wild mustangs roam the Great Plains of North America. Also spotlighted are efforts to preserve these species.

Thursday

7 p.m. on TBS

Movie: Pleasantville

Writer-director Gary Ross earned wide acclaim for his visually inventive 1998 comedy-fantasy. Tobey Maguire and Reese Witherspoon play modern teenagers transported through a television screen into the literally black-and-white world of a 1950s sitcom. William H. Macy, Joan Allen, Jeff Daniels and Don Knotts co-star.

TV Trivia

Mary Tyler Moore ("Blessings") wanted to be realistic for her role in "The Dick Van Dyke Show," so she insisted on wearing pants.

John Wayne ("True Grit") received a football scholarship to the University of Southern California, but an injury forced him to leave.

Clint Eastwood ("The Bridges of Madison County") learned to play the piano by ear, and is an accomplished jazz pianist.

Michael Madsen ("The Doors") is a published author who enjoys writing poetry and jots down ideas on any handy writing surface.

Leslie Caron ("Father Goose") began dancing with the Ballet de Champs Elysses at age 16, and later was discovered by Gene Kelly.

Soap Synopsis

By Toby Goldstein
© Tribune Media Services

All My Children

Kendall was one of many stunned to learn that Ryan is the sole heir to the Alexander Cambias estate. Bianca told Maggie that she didn't terminate her pregnancy and plans to raise the baby herself. Meanwhile, Ryan discovered that any child of Michael's would automatically inherit the entire estate. Liza covered her hurt when she found out that Tad and Simone spent the night together. J.R.'s arrival interrupted a pitched battle when Tad accused Adam and Palmer of murdering Michael. Tad sensed that J.R. is keeping a secret. Aidan stole David's gun from his cabin. Coming: Aidan professes his love to Kendall.

As the World Turns

Katie ended up in the hospital due to an insect bite in Australia. As she slept, Mike told Katie that he loves her. Rose and Jennifer saw Dusty and Molly making love in the empty Metro club after the opening night party. Rose returned to Paul, who asked her to marry him. After Aaron successfully did a job for Dusty, he agreed to do more, despite Alison's warning. As a favor to Marshall, Bonnie went to the community center and convinced Sarah not to give up on her dad. Coming: Craig and Rosanna have another conflict.

Bold and Beautiful

Sheila's helpmate, her former prison warden, Sugar, stopped Nick after he set Ridge free. Brooke learned from Anna that Sheila was behind the kidnapping, but wasn't able to warn Massimo before he walked into Sheila's trap. Macy wanted to sing at the opening of Oscar's new club, and Deacon supported her, believing that Oscar had cut his ties to his former connections. Coming: Somber news for Deacon.

Days of Our Lives

Despite the doctors' heroic attempt to save his life, Abe passed away after uttering Maggie's name. John and Roman feared that Maggie could be the next victim, as the profile indicated they are dealing with a serial killer. John tempted the killer to show himself by stating that he knows who it is, making himself a target. After Lexie discovered that the killer destroyed Abe's computer and files, she and Theo moved into the DiMera mansion. Rex had a dark reaction when Mimi left him a message about breaking up. Shawn walked out after being unable to convince Belle of his love. Coming: Jack challenges the killer.

General Hospital

Coleman saved Stefan after Alcazar ordered a hit on him. Luke then abducted Stefan and "tried" him for murder, prompting Stefan to admit his role in Summer's death and claim that he acted out of love for Nikolas. Jax encountered Sam, a gutsy young woman, who revealed that her family has had bad luck since her great-grandfather killed Bill Hickock, when a fateful hand of cards was stolen. Jax was later knocked unconscious and A.J. was shown to be searching for the "dead man's hand." The vision of "Lily" told Sonny that there's a problem with Carly's unborn baby's heart, which shocked him when the doctor confirmed it. Coming: Sonny gets a warning.

Guiding Light

After Olivia found a doll's head in the crib, Jeffrey told Beth the situation about Lizzie. On the verge of being institutionalized, Lizzie broke down, admitting her actions and begging for help. Phillip found Olivia gone when he went to check on her. Shayne left Marina a message on the computer that they're through and she is not to come see him anymore. Tony told Marah he's leaving town for good, then shared a poignant farewell with Danny. Gus realized that Brad Green had been one of Eden's clients. Coming: Harley's sleuthing takes a new turn.

One Life to Live

Walker was about to tell Blair the truth about himself, but she accepted his marriage proposal and they made love. Unbeknownst to Cristian, who overcame his bad feelings about John after his employment was verified, Flynn had vouched for John. Kevin tied to Kelly that he'd drop his investigation of Walker. Carlotta thanked Dorian for getting Adriana out of Llanview so quickly, as the women appeared to be keeping a secret. Coming: R.J. gets revenge against Antonio.

Passions

Ethan was furious after learning more about Theresa's fight with Gwen, as Dr. Abel struggled to save the lives of Gwen and her unborn child. Later, Ethan received tragic news. Beth presented Luis with his baby boy. As he bonded with the child, Charlie prepared to kill him. Sheridan's body began to rise from the ocean floor. Someone from Chad's past surprised him in a most unpleasant manner, and the ensuing confrontation shocked Fox and Whitney. Eve stopped T.C. from admitting that he kissed Liz. Charity had a strange encounter with baby Endora. Coming: Ethan is burdened with guilt.

Port Charles

Rafe and Alison were married, as were Caleb and Livvie. Caleb came clean with Livvie regarding the wish she made on his ring. Jamal found Imani in the woods and discovered her secret as the full moon rose. As Ricky remembered Casey and wished they could be together, Casey appeared and hinted that she may be coming back to earth. After Ian saved Christina from falling off a cliff, he made peace with the fact that he is a vampire, and was able to make love to Lucy.

Young and Restless

Nikki and Brad swore never to tell Victor that Abby is his daughter, unaware that Sharon had overheard them. Sharon's defiance led Nikki to believe that she had learned their secret. Neil and Dru had to intervene as Brad and Victor nearly came to blows. Paul's brother Todd was shocked to hear Ashley speaking of her newborn son as if he is still alive. Larry's scheme to unmask Jill's emotions about Kay went awry, but Jill finally admitted that she does have feelings for Kay. Raul's teasing of Lauren about their kiss led to another one, which Brittany witnessed. Phyllis and Jack reconciled. Coming: Dru and Neil make wedding plans.

Soap Talk

Ex-'Port Charles' actors catch on elsewhere

By Candace Havens
© Zap2it

The talented Kelly Monaco (Livvie Locke, "Port Charles") has made the move to "General Hospital."

Monaco plays the new character, Samantha. The supernatural aspects of Livvie would have made it difficult to shift the character to "GH," so the writers came up with a new role.

Monaco's former castmate Brian Gaskill (Rafe Kovich, "PC") has taken on a new role on "The Bold and the Beautiful," and Michael Easton (Caleb Morley, "PC") now plays John McBain on "One Life to Live."

In other news: Who says reality television doesn't pay? Heidi Mueller, one of the daughters from NBC's "Who Wants to Marry My Dad?" joins the cast of "Passions" as Kay Bennett.

Kay is the scheming and manipulative daughter of Harmony Police Chief Sam Bennett (James Hyde) and his wife, Grace (Dana Sparks).

Mueller replaces Deanna Wright, whose scenes air until Monday, Oct. 6.

The always-wicked Sheila Carter (Kimberlin Brown) has returned to "The Bold and the Beautiful." Last time viewers saw the character was in October 2002, when she was jailed for shooting Brooke Forrester (Katherine Kelly Lang) and killing Taylor Forrester (Hunter Tylo).

The story line surrounding the character is a secret, but she'll create havoc once again for the Forresters.

Dear Candace: I feel sure you've heard this many times before, but why is the background noise so loud on the soap operas? Many times you can't hear the actors' voices. Some speak so low you can barely hear them anyway. -A. Lolley via the Internet.

Dear Reader: The problem is a common one and only seems to get worse. Part of the trouble has to do with the way the sound is set up on certain televisions. Check the sound function on your set to make sure that it is set correctly for stereo sound.

Another part of the problem has nothing to do with your set. The quality of sound recorded by the soap operas is sometimes deficient, especially when picking up on those low voices.

 7th Heaven

The Camden household gets a new member (guest star Tyler Hoechlin, "Road to Perdition"), at least temporarily, in the new episode "I Wasn't Expecting That!" The young man hangs out with the family members, who believe he is a friend of Simon (David Gallagher). Eric (Stephen Collins) counsels Rabbi Glass (guest star Richard Lewis), who fears that his wife (guest star Laraine Newman) is being unfaithful.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC
 NFL Football

Starting 2-0 doesn't guarantee anything in the NFL. Just ask the seven teams that did so a year ago and failed to make the playoffs. This season, the Indianapolis Colts were one of eight undefeated clubs after two weeks, and tonight's battle in Tampa Bay will tell a lot about their potential playoff readiness. A big plus for Indy so far has been Edgerin James, who, in his first 54 career regular-season games, has rushed for 100 or more yards in half of them.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC
 Las Vegas

Ed and Danny (James Caan, Josh Duhamel) become suspicious of a supposed high roller who cashes in chips worth $50,000 — although he never played a single hand at the tables — in the new episode "Donny, We Hardly Knew Ye." Ed isn't happy about attending his cousin Donny's (guest star Stephen Tobolowsky) hastily arranged wedding to a woman Donny met in Vegas. Delinda (Molly Sims) breaks off her affair with Danny.

Monday Best Bets

8 p.m. on 19-PBS
 Horatio's Drive: America's First Road Trip

The latest project from noted documentary Ken Burns ("The Civil War") recalls the 1903 journey by Dr. Horatio Nelson Jackson — via horseless carriage — from San Francisco to New York. A $50 bet was riding on the proposed completion of the trek in less than three months.

Edgerin James
 Hanks applies

al other notable achievements in U.S. history.

8:30 p.m. on 4-CBS
 Two and a Half Men

A night of drinking convinces Charlie and Alan (Charlie Sheen, Jon Cryer) that they're ready to take on their formidable, self-involved mother (Holland Taylor) in the new episode "Go East on Sunset Until You Reach the Gates of Hell." They get a shoulder to lean on, and unexpected advice, from the cab driver (guest star Darryl Sivad) who drives them home from the bar.

9:45 p.m. on AMC
 Movie: King Kong

Critics had a field day lambasting producer Dino de Laurentiis' 1976 remake of the fantasy classic, but it's actually a solid adventure. Jeff Bridges makes a fine hero and Charles Grodin a perfectly smarmy villain as they transport the big ape from Skull Island back to New York. The film's most notable legacy may be the screen debut of Jessica Lange as slightly spacey Dwan — yes, Dwan — whose beauty kills the beast.

Wednesday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 6-NBC Ed

Title star Tom Cavanagh directed this new episode, in which Ed and Mike (Josh Randall) act on their wish to own a racehorse. After purchasing the animal, they find their money rapidly being depleted by the demands of horse racing. To the displeasure of others, Carol (Julie Bowen) encourages Warren (Justin Long) to think about skipping college to do what he really wants — hosting a cable television show.

7 p.m. on 54-UPN Star Trek: Enterprise

Aboard an impaired vessel in an asteroid field, Archer (Scott Bakula) and his crew face Vulcan travelers who have been turned into zombies in the new episode "Impulse." Because of her Vulcan heritage, T'Pol (Jolene Blalock) also is transformed into one of the bizarre enemies. Mayweather and Trip (Anthony Montgomery, Connor Trinneer) try to get something usable for the starship from one of the asteroids.

7 p.m. on MTV Hard Rock Live

One of today's top young female artists, Michelle Branch, is showcased in this new episode of the concert series. The singer-songwriter-guitarist draws liberally from her current album, "Hotel Paper," with tunes including the single "Are You Happy Now?" Branch also reprises previous hits such as "Everywhere," "All You Wanted" and "Goodbye to You."

8 p.m. on 6-NBC The West Wing

William Devane ("Knots Landing"), who played President John F. Kennedy in "The Missiles of October," returns to political drama in the new episode "Jefferson Lives." He plays the secretary of state, being considered by President Bartlet (Martin Sheen) for nomination as the next vice president. Amy (Mary-Louise Parker) takes up the suddenly reclusive first lady's (Stockard Channing) campaign for federal anti-violence measures.

8 p.m. on 54-UPN Jake 2.0

Series star Christopher Gorham is reunited with another former regular in "Popular," Carly Pope, in the new episode "The Good, the Bad and the Geeky." Jake (Gorham) adopts the identity of a cyberspace terrorist and goes overseas to break up the villain's gang. The mission is jeopardized when a hacker (guest star Pope) tries to carry on an online affair with the real terrorist.

8 p.m. and DSC Unsolved History

One of the most famous, and most gruesome, stories in U.S. history is recalled in the new episode "The Donner Party." Trapped by winter weather in the Sierra Nevada Mountains in 1846, an expedition of 87 people had to resort to drastic measures — including cannibalism — to survive. Modern experts offer views on the effects of temperature, hunger and isolation on the members of the party at the time.

8:30 p.m. on 4-CBS Becker

Originally planned for a midseason return, Ted Danson's sitcom about a perpetually cranky New York doctor is again a fall starter instead. Nancy Travis remains as Becker's neighbor Chris, who is even more of a potential love interest for him during this sixth season. She almost jinxes their chances, though, by telling others of Becker's kindness during her hospital stay in "What's Love Got to Do With It?"

Saturday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Movie: Toy Story

In this computer-animated 1995 Disney movie hit, Tom Hanks lends his voice to toy cowboy Woody, whose happy life with his owner's other playthings is threatened by the arrival of flashy action hero Buzz Lightyear (voice of Tim Allen). Other voices are provided by Don Rickles, Jim Varney, John Ratzenberger, Annie Potts, R. Lee Ermey and Penn Jillette.

7 p.m. on TNT

Movie: The Bodyguard

Whitney Houston makes her acting debut in this 1992 drama as an overindulged music superstar who is being stalked. A coldhearted professional bodyguard (Kevin Costner) is hired to protect her, and they end up falling in love. The film's soundtrack includes the hit song "I Will Always Love You." Gary Kemp and Ralph Waite also star.

7 p.m. on HBO

Movie: Road to Perdition

Cinematographer Conrad Hall was honored posthumously with an Oscar for director Sam Mendes' ("American Beauty") 2002 version of a graphic novel. Tom Hanks is atypically grim as a Depression-era hit man on the run with his surviving son (Tyler Hoechlin) after the rest of their family is murdered. Paul Newman is superb as a patriarchal underworld kingpin; so is Jude Law as another killer sent to eliminate Hanks.

9 p.m. on HBO

Actual Autopsy With Dr. Michael Baden and an Examination of Autopsy's Most Complex Cases

The femme fatale is not just an invention of mystery novels and movies, as this new "America Undercover" special proves. Murders involving women as perpetrators are discussed by forensic investigators including Dr. Michael Baden, formerly the chief medical examiner for the city of New York. As with past "Autopsy" specials, many of the crime details examined are rather grisly.

(Ratings for each film begin with a "star" rating - one star meaning "poor," four meaning "excellent" - followed by the Motion Picture Association of America rating, and then by a family-viewing guide, the key for which appears below.)

STARTING THIS WEEK (New releases):

"THE ITALIAN JOB": Honor among thieves goes only so far in director F. Gary Gray's ("The Negotiator") energetic update of a 1969 heist adventure. Mark Wahlberg heads the cast as the mastermind behind a Venice gold theft, which goes like clockwork - until one member (Edward Norton) of his team turns traitor. The others are determined to even the score in Los Angeles, where several small, very speedy cars and a prearranged traffic jam are pivotal to the plan. Charlize Theron co-stars as the safecracking daughter of one of the criminals (Donald Sutherland). DVD extras: theatrical trailer; "making-of" documentaries; deleted scenes; cast and crew interviews. *** (PG-13: AS, P, V)

"DOWN WITH LOVE": The style of 1950s and '60s romantic-comedy movies affectionately is emulated by director Peyton Reed ("Bring It On") in this successfully frothy - well, what else? - romantic comedy. Renee Zellweger is charming as an advice columnist who can't help falling for a womanizing journalist (Ewan McGregor), although his reputation precedes him. David Hyde Pierce is fun in the sidekick role that Tony Randall used to fill for Doris Day and Rock Hudson. DVD extras: theatrical trailer; audio commentary by Reed; "making-of" documentaries; deleted scenes; bloopers; HBO special; Zellweger and McGregor screen test; "Here's to Love" music video. *** (PG-13: AS, P)

Video Vantage

"THE IN-LAWS": Michael Douglas and Albert Brooks respectively assume Peter Falk and Alan Arkin's roles from the wacky 1979 comedy in this remake, which is not nearly as zany but still amusing enough. A worrywart podiatrist (Brooks) and a risk-loving CIA agent (Douglas) are about to be linked through the marriage of their children (Lindsay Sloane, Ryan Reynolds), but first, the spy has a mission into which the foot doctor reluctantly is drawn. Candice Bergen, Robin Tunney and David Suchet co-star. DVD extras: theatrical trailers; audio commentary by director Andrew Fleming; deleted and extended scenes; bloopers; "Easter eggs." *** (PG-13: AS, P, V)

"THE LION KING: PLATINUM EDITION": The Disney studio continued on its roll of successful animated features with this 1994 box-office blockbuster, being re-released in a version packed with fresh extras - including a new song. The richly visual saga traces young Simba's efforts to reclaim the throne that is rightfully his from his scheming uncle. Among those supplying characters' voices are Matthew Broderick, Jeremy Irons, James Earl Jones and Whoopi Goldberg; the music score boasts Elton John hits including "Circle of Life" and "Can You Feel the Love Tonight." DVD extras: extended version of movie; audio commentaries; "making-of" documentaries; deleted scenes; sing-along track; music videos; games. **** (G)

"HOLLYWOOD HOMICIDE": Two generations of movie stars are merged in this confused hybrid of humor and action from director Ron Shelton ("Bull Durham"). Harrison Ford and Josh Hartnett play mismatched Los Angeles police detectives who both try to maintain side jobs - Ford's character in real estate, and Hartnett's in (ironically) acting - while investigating a murder case that involves a rap-music group. Co-stars include Lena Olin, Martin Landau and a surprisingly attired Lou Diamond Phillips. DVD extras: audio commentary by Shelton. ** (PG-13: AS, P, V)

"WILLARD": Rats! There's one way to describe this horror tale, an update of a 1971 movie that was more effective for its relative economy in putting forth jolts. Crispin Glover ("Charlie's Angels") plays the oppressed title character, who uses his control over rodents to get revenge on those he deems his enemies. A rat named Ben, who got his own sequel movie in the early 1970s, still leads the pack; human co-stars include R. Lee Ermy and Laura Elena Harring ("Mulholland Drive"). DVD extras: theatrical trailer and TV spots; audio commentary by Glover, Ermy, director Glen Morgan and producer James Wong; "making-of" documentaries; deleted scenes; script-to-screen comparison; music video; trivia; "rat gallery." ** (PG-13: AS, P, V)

COMING SOON (Upcoming releases):

"BLUE CAR" (Oct. 14): A teenager (Agnes Bruckner) becomes involved with one of her teachers (David Strathairn) on a deeper level than either of them expected. (R: AS, P)

"THE MATRIX RELOADED" (Oct. 14): Neo (Keanu Reeves) and company have to save the world of Zion from invading probes in the visually innovative fantasy-adventure sequel. (R: AS, P, V)

On TV

Sophia Loren, Mira Sorvino star in Loren's son's first movie

By Jacqueline Cutler
© Zap2it

"Between Strangers" is a landmark film, which is surprising considering what a quiet movie it is.

Premiering Sunday, Oct. 5, it marks the first original movie for WE: Women's Entertainment. It is also the first full-length feature for director and writer Edoardo Ponti, a son of Sophia Loren.

Loren stars in this, her 100th film, making for yet another milestone. And it is the first time mother and son have worked together, though Ponti did not write this for Loren.

"In the beginning, he was writing and doing things, but I didn't know that he wanted me in the big picture - maybe he didn't know," Loren says from her home in Geneva. "But when the writing was finished, he said, 'Would you like to read it?'"

First, she read it as a proud mother would read her child's work. Then, he asked her to consider playing the part of Olivia, a woman whose life is scarred by sadness. Olivia works at a dead-end job in a depressing grocery store and is married to an abusive man in a wheelchair. She loves art, but represses her talent and joy, only to find both flourish when she resumes sketching. Initially, she only shares her art with a park caretaker, played by Gerard Depardieu.

Though vulnerable, Olivia has a steely inner strength, qualities Ponti says he sees in his mother. When he asked her to play the role, Loren recalls, "I said, 'Yes, as a matter of fact. It seems that you wrote it for me.'"

Then she read the script again, "this time, not as mama, but as an actor," Loren says. "And I said yes. He put all his soul and knowledge into that character."

Mother and son, separately, talk about the essence of a character. "When I cast the film, it was really a matter of trying to cast the soul of the actor that is perfectly in sync with the soul of the character," Ponti says.

"When you write, you become an antenna, so everything goes through the filter," he says. "I was naturally emotionally open to any actress. Deborah Unger crossed my path, and I felt she was right. And Mira (Sorvino), of course, the issues that Natalia goes through are very different (than those facing the actress), but she understands. In a less extreme way, she has been living in her father's footsteps."

"Between Strangers" revolves around three artists, each at a crossroads. Mira Sorvino ("Mighty Aphrodite") plays Natalia, a photojournalist who lands her first magazine cover. Natalia follows in the footsteps of her father, an internationally renowned photojournalist, but grapples with whether this career is right for her. She is haunted by the fact that immediately after snapping the picture of a beautiful toddler, the child was killed.

Deborah Kara Unger ("Thirteen") plays Catherine, a concert cellist who abandons her little girl and husband and is ambivalent about her career. Her father had killed her mother, and now that he is released from prison, she flirts with suicide and homicide.

The stories do not obviously connect, except for a little girl who shows up, like a vision, to each woman.

"The little girl has to be open to interpretation," Ponti says. "However you feel about the little girl is the right answer. What we are really trying to do is raise questions, but not to give answers. The question is something that might apply to all of us. For my money, the little girl is in a way a blank canvas - the hope and the new beginning that we are all born with every morning."

Ponti offers these philosophical musings via cell phone while driving 130 mph, from Paris to Geneva. At 30, with some stage work and a short feature, "Liv," to his credit, Ponti shows great promise. His insight into women would be profound for any director, but is remarkable for one with a Y chromosome.

another blow-'em-up flick, "Between Strangers" is a lovely alternative. Unlike most TV movies aimed at women, this one does not pretend to portray someone's life, only to shuffle her story to fit a formula.

Sophia Loren stars in "Between Strangers" Sunday on WE: Women's Entertainment. "The story with her struggle in her life, and finally her dream becomes true, it really is the story of human triumph," she says.
